

Council Agrees on Terms Of Shagwood Sub Approval

BINGHAM FARMS—Councilmen indicated Monday night that if Frank Hoffman, developer of Shagwood Estates, would submit a second plat incorporating suggested lot layouts by William King, village president, the plat would be acceptable.

Hoffman's lawyers have filed suit against the village which was started before Hoffman's incorporation when the village was a part of the Birmingham city limits. Hoffman would not give approval of Hoffman's original plat of 21 lots last August.

King's counterproposal of a second plat suggested by Hoffman would have 11 lots. Hoffman would have only 11 lots, but Hoffman's latest proposal for a second plat is for 11 lots.

JOHNMAN Albert M. advised Hoffman by the council request.

of working through lawyers, he said. Meadows felt this would be a waste of money. Hoffman's lawyer said he would not be against such a move, indicating that because the original plat was still pending and difficult in contacting Hoffman, he felt a better answer to Hoffman was needed immediately.

The village has tried to be fair and under planning laws, he said. It is an answer on his part within 30 days, even though he hasn't submitted a plat, said King who added that no answer would be given Hoffman on his August request.

Thanksgiving Celebrated By Large Family Groups

Next to Christmas Day, Thanksgiving has the record for bringing families together for feasting and merry making, and Beverly Hills people are no exception to the rule.

At the Donald Dietrich home of Chelsea 21 gathered around the festive table laden with every thing which goes to make a Thanksgiving dinner complete. Hostess the host and hostess and their four children were grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Goodwin and Harold Dietrich, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dietrich, Mr. and Mrs. John Quirk, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dean and daughter Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Brown and four children, Susan, Beth, Barbara and Stephen.

A family group made up a dinner party at the Alex Liggins on Kirkshire, Thanksgiving Day. Their guests included Mr. Lindsay's father, Mr. James Lindsay, his brother, Reverend Gordon Lindsay, wife and daughter, Robin from Pontiac. Also Mr. and Mrs. Oliver McLaughlan and two daughters, Margaret and Olive and Mrs. Gordon Storrer of Detroit. With the visiting girls and the Lindsay children combined, Mrs. Lindsay says there was not a dull moment.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allison of Hillcrest entertained friends from Columbus, Ohio on Thanksgiving Day and the weekend. They were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gowers and three children, Bryan, Cris, and Bobby. Since the men were in the service together, it was an unusually interesting reunion for them.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rolds of 14 Mile road followed their family custom of spending Thanksgiving with friends with whom they exchange celebration of this anniversary. This time it was at the home on Thanksgiving were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Detwiler of Kirkshire, who with their children motored to Jackson, and spent the day with Mrs. Detwiler's parents, Judge and Mrs. H. D. Boardman.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hesse of DeSmet are back after a week in upper Michigan. That section being Mr. Hesse's former home, they had many friends and rela-

Cub Scouts B-24 Hold Pack Meeting At Beverly School

WEST BEVERLY — During the past month, Cub Scouts of Pack B-24 have been studying "America the Beautiful" and their November pack meeting at Beverly school revolved about this theme with Mrs. Harry Granader as chairman of the program.

Skits were given at the pack meeting. Ten 11 singing "America the Beautiful" and Ben 12 putting on a puppet show, "Thanksgiving is for Every one." Cubmaster Dr. Harold Fairbanked and the Cub Scouts in a handclapping salute to Jay J. Ball, an active worker in the Pack, who is leaving the city.

The Cub Scouts produced Beverly school with a map of the United States, each den working on one section. The map was put together by several Cub Scouts in the woods, a trip to see the bus exhibit at Cranbrook, and a visit to the new water tower on 14 Mile road. Den 12, aided by its mother Mrs. R. L. Adams presented a Thanksgiving skit to a noisy family.
