BLOOMFIELD HILLS high school coach Harold Trotter discusses strategy with Harvey Praman (left) and Bruce Drury. Bloomfield will open the cage season against Grosse Pointe U. on December 2.

Maple Swimmers Start December 6

Champions of the Eastern Michigan swimming league for the past seven years, Birmingham will swing into action December 6 against Grosse Pointe.

With ten lettermen back this season, the team saw again bright for coach Jay Meyer's squad.

Wayne George, fullback on the Maple football team, will compete in the individual medley along with Frank Mahley who also competes in the breast stroke. Both boys are senior veterans.

ANOTHER senior breast stroker is Tom Hilar who considered one of the best in the high school ranks.

Senior Jay Lewis and sophomore Pete Nink will compete in the free style events for the Maples.

Business will begin the EMI meets on December 22 and 29 and state high school meet on March 21.

NEW ENGLAND LIFE

Anderson Award To Jim Traa

All-State and Jim Traa's name will be the first inscribed on the new Jim D. Anderson memorial plaque to be placed in the Birmingham high school. Traa was named recipient of the honor at the Maple football and cross-country banquet Tuesday night.

Anderson was a former star Birmingham athlete who died in a jet training flight last February.

Letters were awarded to 27 varsity football players and eight members of the cross-country team. The football squad was presented with gold footballs by their fathers, while the cross-country letter winners were given gold shoes.

BOTH teams won EMI championships this season, the sixth since 1948 for the cross-country squad.

Team members presented their coaches with gifts. Captains Bill Stacey and Jim Traa of the football squad were given team pictures by their teammates, as were captains Howard Dittus and Doug Wiggarter of the cross-country team.

Toastmaster for the affair was the Rev. Robert E. Doney, pastor of the First Congregational Church.

Baron Cagers Show Good Form in Practice

Three weeks practice has made a big difference in the Bloomfield Hills high school basketball team, according to coach Harold Trotter.

"Anyone who saw the squad when we started could certainly notice the improvement that has taken place," Trotter said.

"They have learned the fundamentals and are starting to look pretty good," he added.

THIS is the first basketball season for the Barons and with the exception of a few transfer players, Trotter has been working with basketball novices.

Among the transfer players are Bill Stouffer, 5-11 junior forward from Royal Oak and Randy Barrett, 6-00 junior forward from Birmingham. Both are expected to capture first team berths.

Ed Danziger, 6-00 senior center; Harvey Praman, 5-07 senior guard; and Dave Drury, 6-00 junior guard, complete the first five.

PRAMAN and Drury were both on the Barons football team last fall.

Trotter will rely on a couple of sophomores for reserve strength.

TO MAKE an end for this, Trotter's boys will play a training game against the last A team and away from the outside.

Chuck Mazy, 6-00 forward, and Dave Anderson, 5-10 guard, have both looked good in practice.

The Barons have several players around the six foot mark but lack the real big boy necessary these days to control the back boards.
