Palmer-Bee Co. In Bloomfield Hills

The company's expansion into the Bloomfield Hills area is a logical outgrowth of the success of the company's other plants. The company took another important step toward complete independence when the general offices were relocated recently to its new building on Maple Road and the Grand Trunk railroad, Bloomfield Hills, Michigan.

A local sales office will also be retained at the company's Detroit, West Grand Boulevard address, and manufacturing will continue at its original plant on Poland Avenue in Detroit, southeast of Hamtramck, Michigan.

Rapid progress in the new Palmer-Bee manufacturing facilities at Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, is reported and certain operations will start being transferred to the plant within a few months.
