WELCOME NEWCOMERS
 Welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Krogerud, of Kenmore road, who moved here Dec. 8 from Lyndhurst, Ohio, a suburb of Cleveland. Krogerud is connected with the Fisher Body corporation, and was transferred here from its Livonia plant.

The couple have five boys, David, 12, who attends Barnum school, James, 9, and Richard, 8, both attending Walnut Lake school, Jack, 4, and Jared, 2.

Both parents like to garden, and are looking forward to spring, when they will be able to work on landscaping their new home. They are also enthusiastic bowlers.

Welcome also to the Richard Hintermeister family, who moved into their newly completed home on West Dartmouth road last week. Their former residence was on Faculty Row at Cranbrook school, where Hintermeister, who taught there for 11 years, was head of the art department.

The couple came originally from New York City and New Jersey. They have two sons, Robert, Jr., 9, who attends Brookside school, and John Henry, 3.

Hintermeister, who is now doing product planning at the Ford Motor Company offices on Plymouth road, did much work in designing while earning his master's degree at the Academy of Art, and the house contains many pieces of furniture that he has made.

Mrs. Hintermeister is a member of the Junior League of Birmingham, she has attended art school, and paints as a hobby. Both have been on the board of St. Anastasia's Guild, of which they have been members for the last 8 years.

Mrs. James Stoney entertained on Friday, Feb. 4 with a luncheon at her Middlebelt road home. The inviting luncheon table was decorated in the Valentine theme. Her guests were friends interested in playing duplicate bridge, and hoping to form the nucleus of a group which will meet regularly.

Sharing the delicious food and the afternoon of bridge following were Mrs. Hugh Joseph, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. R. C. Banker, Mrs. Julius Ofenstein, Mrs. Eugene Lama, Mrs. Parker Rockwell and Mrs. Henry Goodwin.

"Our first emphasis diagnoses early behavior deviations and, secondly, the treatment of them when they arise."

Other Birmingham members of the board are Mrs. Edwin Clarke, Mrs. Lawrence S. Martz and Mrs. Edward Proctor, who emphasized the services available through the clinic.
