Girl Scouts and Brownies Honor Dads at Banquet

It was a big day for Girl Scouts and Brownies of this area when troops met for a banquet honoring their fathers on Jan. 16. Troops from Pierce school and Our Lady Queen of Martyrs school met at Embury Methodist church where they put on a program highlighting their year's work with skits, songs and piano selections. Scouting laws and ritual were also individually represented.

Troops participating in the program were 302, 303, 305, 315, and 365. Chairman for the banquet, Mrs. Robert Lorenzen, introduced Mrs. Robert Portwood, neighborhood Girl Scout chairman, and Stan Kelley who performed the duties of toastmaster for the evening. Working on Mrs. Lorenzen's committee were Mrs. Erro Hokkimen, Mrs. Edward Evans, and Mrs. George Sonnefeld.

The same evening troops from Holy Name school also met at the Community House for their father-daughter banquet. Several of the girls, members of the seven troops participating, were from this area, including Mary Seibert, Kathleen Quinlan, Margaret Young, Kathleen Kelly, Jean Custance, and Anne McCartney. The banquet was highlighted with troop singing and later there was dancing under the guidance of Joe Cornell, dancing instructor.

LEADER HONORED

Brownie Troop 617 honored their leader, Mrs. Edward Driscoll, in her home on Weatherly last Saturday afternoon.
