Todds of Drury Lane Hosts at Sunday Brunch

The William S. Todds of Drury Lane hosted a brunch last Sunday in honor of their weekend houseguests, Dr. and Mrs. Stewart J. Swanton of Lansing. Attending the brunch were Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. C. Guel Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Tarry also from Lansing, and Mr. and Mrs. James S. Traa.

Saturday evening the Todds, and Goodwin, Detroit chairman for the group, gave a report on the Lincoln Day Dinner held recently in Detroit for cocktails before going to the Music Hall to see Cinerama Holiday. After the show the group had dinner at Joe Muir's.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Longenecker who moved to 555 Glenary road in December from Rosedale Park are avid antique collectors. They are especially interested in colored glass, brass, pewter, and copper. Longenecker also has a prize collection of Kentucky rifles. He is a national service manager for Lincoln Mercury.

Mrs. Longenecker, who is very active in the DAR had a luncheon meeting for the Minute Women in her home last Tuesday. Mrs. Rich-

GIRL SCOUTS

Girl Scout Troop 379 will entertain mothers and friends with a fashion show and tea Friday afternoon at the Village school. The fashion show comes as a climax to the Modeling and Good Grooming course the Scouts have been taking the past six weeks.

Their instructor, Mrs. Fred Jeffers of Birmingham, will commend the show and each girl will model three of her own outfits, one for school, one for sports, and one for parties.

Assisted by the Troop leaders, Mrs. John Larkin, Mrs. Robert Kostere, and Mrs. Kettler, the Scouts will serve punch and cookies to guests.

The junior bridge group of Gamma Phi Beta sorority met Monday evening at the Kilpatrick home on Hipp Cross road. Competing for the customary "white elephant" prize were Mrs. Robert Straith, Mrs. James Mc Guire, Mrs. Robert Carson, Mrs. Gene Lamont, Mrs. Robert Leary, Mrs. Robert Lanham, Mrs. William Sax, Mrs. James Finney and Mrs. Richard Ernst.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Dittich flew to New York last week on a combination business and pleasure trip. While her husband was selecting spring furs, Mrs. Dittich enjoyed shopping on Fifth avenue. They also saw a couple of Broadway plays, "Fanny and "Plain and Fancy" visited several famous New York restaurants, and toured the United Nations building.

WELCOME NEWCOMERS

Welcome to the Kenneth Thompsons and their three children, Tim, 16, Lynn, 13, and Jo, 11, who moved in January from Oak street in Birmingham to their new home on Ardmore road. Thompson is assistant vice president in general personnel for the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

Mrs. Thompson, who is a home economics graduate, used to teach in the Detroit schools and is naturally interested in cooking and sewing. She is also very active in her sorority alumnae group, Kappa Kappa Gamma. The family belongs to the Redeemer Lutheran church in Birmingham.

When Mrs. Thompson entertained her bridge club in her new home last week, guests included Mrs. Howard Howlett, Mrs. Bud Guest, Mrs. Richard Burgess, Mrs. Mott Von Eberstein, Mrs. Clyde Manning, Mrs. Boyd Baker, and Mrs. Jack Donahue.

Other newcomers in the Village are the Leonard A. Gargines who recently moved to 129 Grand road from Huntington Woods. Bill, 12, attends Barnum school and Lee Ann, 7, is making new friends at the Bloomfield Village school. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gargines are enthusiastic golfers and Bill is a boxing fan. Gargines is associated with the Daver Manufacturing Co. in Detroit.

Are you thinking of buying a new home? Then read the "For Sale Houses" columns on the Classified Ad page of this week's Eccentric.

MRS. JAMES CARDER

Carder-Metzger Vows Repeated in Colorado

A waltz length wedding gown of off-white pure silk was worn by Carolyn Page Metzger when she became the bride of James Carder Saturday afternoon in St. Thomas Episcopal church, Denver, Colo. Double ring rites were exchanged at 2:30 p.m. with the Rev. A. B. Patterson of Boulder officiating.

The bridal gown was fashioned with a full bouffant skirt, a tight empire waist, with an off-the-shoulder neckline and tiny cap sleeves. Her fingertip veil was attached to a clip bonnet of shirred illusion embellished in seed pearls. She carried white orchids and hyacinths.

CAROLYN and James are both of Denver, Colo. Her parents are the Hoyt Metzgers, 6390 Hills drive. He is the son of Mrs. N. J. Carder of Red Oak, Iowa, and the late Mr. Carder.

From Dubois, Wyo., came her sister, Mrs. Ben H. Weeks II, to act as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Nancy Jacobs of San Diego, Calif., formerly of Birmingham, and Mrs. Hugh J. McGee of Denver, a college roommate.

All attendants wore aqua crystal tulle dresses with shawl collars, dropped torso and full ballerina skirts. They wore headpieces of velvet with short veils in matching aqua and wrist length white kid gloves. They carried burgundy roses.

THOMAS T. Carder was his brother's best man. Serving as ushers were another brother, John Carder and William Day, both of Iowa, Kirk Dennis and James Nixon, both of Nebraska.

Mrs. Metzger wore a dress of lace and silk organza in shades of roses, with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a gray lace waltz length dress with three-quarter length sleeves and matching accessories. Both had white camellias pinned to their purses.

AFTER a reception in the Brown Palace hotel, Denver, the couple left for a wedding trip to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Las Vegas. For traveling Carolyn donned a beige wool suit with a box jacket and the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

After March 5, the newlyweds will make their home in Denver. Going to Colorado for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Smead of Pontiac, Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Strouse, Mr. and Mrs. John L. McQuigg and Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. McGinnis, all of Birmingham.
