Period Costumes Depict PEO Sisterhood Founding

The Oakland County Cooperative group of PEO Sisterhood will celebrate the 86th birthday anniversary of its founding at a luncheon in the Birmingham Community House.

Featured speaker at the Feb. 7th party will be Mrs. Walgr J. Teeuwissen, Jr. who has chosen as her subject "Women are Here to Stay."

Mrs. Teeuwissen is the wife of the pastor of the United Presbyterian church of Drayton Plains, studied at Moody Bible Institute in Chicago, Temple University and Westminster Theological Seminary in Philadelphia.

MRS. W. J. TEEUWISSEN, JR.

ON JAN. 22, 1869, seven girls attending Iowa Wesleyan college founded PEO. From the humble beginning PEO has grown into a band of women well over 100,000 and their primary objectives are cultural and educational. An educational peace scholarship fund and International Peace League are supported by them and they also own Cotter college, a junior college in Nevada, Mo.

Tribute to the founders will be paid by a group of women from various chapters, garbed in costumes of the period of the founding. They will symbolize the founding in a tableau, the script for which was written and will be narrated by Mrs. J. D. Hazey, a member of chapter AX, Birmingham.

Anson Lauffer will direct.

MRS. T. C. Morgan of Birmingham is general chairman of the luncheon and Mrs. Keith Alagon and Mrs. Erwin Mork, curios.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Trout of Rockway drive returned Sunday from a week's stay in Miami, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Bigelow have returned to their home on Birch Adams after an extended visit in the South. The week before Christmas they drove down to Miami Beach where they stayed at the Kenilworth hotel for about 10 days. The hotel gave a Christmas Eve party for the guests and on Christmas day everyone was invited for egg nog.

From there they motored to Daytona and stayed about a week before coming home.

Saturday they celebrated their wedding anniversary when they attended the annual bowlers' party at the DMC with some of their friends.
