Library Gift Is Memorial To Albert Kahn

Baldwin public library this week announced the installation of a record player, a memorial gift from Mrs. Albert Kahn, honoring her husband who died in 1942.

In announcing the gift, Miss Jeanne Lloyd, librarian, said that a gift of records from his collection shortly after his death, could be credited with starting the library's record corner.

A few changes in the reading room arrangements have given us a music corner on the east side of the main lobby," Miss Lloyd commented. "This will give us a place where records and record player can be kept together."

"THE RECORD player which permits listening through headphones, will permit record borrowers to make a more careful selection. It is a wonderful addition to our library."

Miss Lloyd added that brief instructions on the proper care of the new LP records was being prepared for borrowers.

The sheets will stress such things as handling records by the edges only, keeping them free from dust, preventing warping, proper handling and correct care.
