

Schedule Separate Pickup for Ashes

Ashes will no longer be collected with garbage and rubbish, according to Robert Kenning, department of public works superintendent. Experience at the recently opened incinerator in Royal Oak has proven that ashes dumped into the furnaces along with other refuse act as a damper on the fires and slow down the operation at the incinerator. The city will schedule regular collections for ashes with the rest of the city having a Tuesday collection and the west side on Thursday. Kenning stated that all residents will be notified by letter of the change in collection, also to start next week. The city is split geographically for the two collection days by a line along Woodward avenue south of Lincoln, west on Lincoln to Grant and south on Grant to the city limits.

Successful Bidder

Birmingham's city commissioner has accepted the $12,262.52 bid of the Haggan and Longford Co. of Dawson for construction of a water main and sewer on Bowers between Hunter to Adams roads.

First of 3 Ballot Proposals Okayed

First of three proposed April ballot questions was approved this morning by Birmingham city commissioners. They instructed City Clerk Irene Hanley to make Proposal No. 1 an amendment to the city charter to permit joining the proposed Evergreen interceptor. This is the manner in which Birmingham, together with Lathrop Village and the townships of Bloomfield, Southfield and Troy, propose to meet the state's demand to abate pollution of the River.

THE OTHER two proposals concern an advisory vote on the shifting of Sham Park to permit of street parking to be located at joining the W. Maple business area and a $110,000 general obligation bond issue to finance construction of an artificial ice skating rink at Fog park. (Both of these latter two propositions are outlined in considerable detail in other stories in this issue.)
