

Junior Leaguers Parade Togs From Bargain Shop

THE DASHING YOUNG swain escorting the two charming ladies is none other than Mrs. E. A. Proctor, Jr. (center), Anne Bennett and Grace Mack. They modeled what the well-dressed younger set plans to wear at formal events when the Junior League evening group met last week at Cranbrook Pavilion.

ANOTHER "MUST" for spring is a new bonnet, so "Clerk" Mary Sue Eckland tells Pat McDonald and her fur-hatted escort, Laura Lou Raymond. Both "customers" are wearing outfits found among the stock of the Junior League sponsored Bargain Box.

PROVING THAT the "small fry" come in for their share of attention, Nancy Trumbull modeled a little girl dress and a few of the togs in stock. The show was presented at the close of the business meeting under the guidance of Anne Bennett who said it was "just for fun". (Eccentric Photos)

Artworks Shown Here At Gallery

Artworks by Hughie Lee Smith, Roy Root, and Karin Van Leyden are shown in a new exhibit opened Monday at the Little Gallery according to the Gallery's Peggy deSalle.

Smith, who a year ago won the popular vote prize for the Michigan Artist exhibit and this year's similar vote in the Park in the Hills show, and Root, a Parisian visiting to Detroit, will be on hand for the show during its first week.

The exhibit will continue through March, with hours from 10 to 6 daily and from 2 to 6 on Sundays.

Art around the globe is theme of the show that Mrs. deSalle has arranged with background drapery panels done by Marianne
