

The Birmingham Eccentric

Thursday, July 7, 1955

SECTION TWO

A beautiful, clean neighborhood requires that each resident maintain his own premises correctly; when you make lovely your own yard and garden you stimulate others to do likewise... such is example.

SHADY LAWN AND HIGH-FLYING SWINGS are good entertainment, feel the Frieselmans twins. Being just two and a half years old, the licks have not graduated into regular swings, but don't need their swing bars to hold them up. Here, Lydia leaves her swing to give sister Lisa a push. They are the children of the Fritz Frieselmans of Loretta.

'Our Miss Rogers' Says Goodbye To B'ham Schools

By JAN ELKINS

The shining gold bracelet presented to Miss Gladys Rogers in commemoration of years of service to the Birmingham public school system is one of her proudest possessions, she says.

MISS GLADYS ROGERS

Denisons Travelling In North

Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Denison, who spoke there, were in Saviour Lutheran church last Friday at 8:30 p.m. are vacationing in northern Michigan.

After a two-week's trip they will spend the summer at a cottage at Walcott Lake.

The bride is the former Alvina Durst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Durst of Royal Oak while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John P. Denison of Goodhue road in Bloomfield Hills.

SHE WORE A ballroom gown of ice blue crystal for the wedding witnessed by family and a few friends. Her attendants were Mrs. Walter K. Denison and Karen Durst, her sister as matron of honor or bridesmaid.

Denison's wife was his brother, Walter, as best man and John P., Jr., as usher. Denison, who was recently discharged from the army, and his bride received family members at a dinner after the ceremony. Their rehearsal dinner on Wednesday had been at the Detroit Athletic club.

Suburban Scene

Activities Run the Gamut Here And Away, Indoors, Outdoors

By FRAN MAIER

Anatomy Professor at MSU

Dr. Esther M. Smith is a newly appointed assistant professor of anatomy at Michigan State University. She received her Ph.D. from MSU on June 5, and her appointment became effective July 1, although Tuesday was her first day of work at the new job.

Her duties will include teaching of medical technology students, a phase in which she began her work last year.

Dr. Smith, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond M. Smith, spent last weekend at Higgins Lake, in the summer home that she has with Dr. M. Lois Calhoun, professor of anatomy and head of the department in which Dr. Smith will be teaching.

Last year, Dr. Smith was a part-time graduate assistant to a professor of pathology at State, while completing her studies for her degree.

Never Too Busy

Although busy with plans for her own wedding on July 9, Barbara Cline took time on last weekend to fly to Chicago to be a bridesmaid for one of her sorority sisters in Gamma Phi Beta. She was accompanied to Chicago by Victoria Day of

IN COOL, CLEAR WATER of the Henry S. Booth swimming pool on Cranbrook drive in Bloomfield Hills, Mrs. Marshall Fredericks gives her small daughter, Roz, advice on swimming. They are among members of a swimming club that gathers almost daily to splash and sunbathe.

Joint Ceremony for Five Soroptimist Clubs

By ALICE E. MORGAN

"We've had a delicious dinner, we've adopted a policy of brevity in preliminaries and now we are going to have some fun and hear a wonderful speaker."

This is how Mrs. Gertrude Arnold, toastmistress, presented Prof. Charles E. Irvin, Michigan State college, to members of Soroptimist International Association, American Federation of Soroptimist Clubs at a five-club meeting June 29.

In his opening remarks, Prof. Irvin proved himself an excellent teller of stories. Keeping his audience laughing as he devoted himself to humor.

With no chance of pace the professor launched into his subject, "But I Am One."

HE STARTED his formal talk by saying women are the greatest

LINDO MOORE MARY DEWEY IRENE HANLEY Head Birmingham Soroptimist club (Eccentric Photos)

Skokie, Ill., sister of her fiancé, John W. Day, who was here to attend a luncheon for Barbara at the DAC.

The prospective bridegroom has received his commission in the U. S. Marine Reserve and the couple expect to live at the Marine base at Quantico, Va., after their marriage.

Baby—Reason for Planning Trip

It will be a long trip for the George D. Johnstons to take from their home at 256 Puritan if they wish to spoil their new grandson, George D. Johnston III.

The lad made his bow to the world on June 24 at Bogota, Colombia, where his daddy, George D. Johnston, Jr., is the representative of the J. Walter Thompson agency.

The younger Johnstons have been here two years, living in the mountain area some 8,000 feet above sea level.

Grandmother Johnston said the weather there is perfect—it never goes below 40 degrees nor above 70.

"It's grand there. We have made a trip and George and his Colombian wife were here for Christmas. Now that the baby has arrived it gives us an excellent excuse to begin planning another visit to South America."

Henry S. Booths Seeing Grandson

Another trip to see a grandson was made last weekend, when Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Booth of Cranbrook flew to Olathe, Kans., to see Lt. and Mrs. Ronald Ballantyne and their month-old son.

Picnic and Swim

The Parodi Players of Adams school will not discontinue their dramatic interests and activities even though the school year has ended.

They have planned a trip to Cranbrook summer theater for July 13, with a picnic and swim suits.

Mrs. James Walker, 1555 Villa, is in charge of making transportation arrangements and is seeking additional drivers.

Readies for Approaching Wedding

Returning from Bart Lake and its cool northern breezes this Tuesday were Mrs. Clarissa E. Tieman and her daughter, Joan. They are foregoing their usual summer in their "Treetops" home at the Indian River resort after a brief ten day vacation there, because of the approaching wedding of Miss Tieman.

After doing some shopping in the Petoskey summer shops, they now return to ready for the August 27 wedding and its attendant parties. The Tiemans live at 27791 Lathrup, Lathrup Village.

WHITE STUCCO AND BRONZE STATUARY mark the pool of the Booth family in Bloomfield Hills. Shown on the diving board are Mrs. James Williams, daughter Wendy and son Kim, all of Yarmouth, Bloomfield Township. While diving is a favorite sport of Kim, Mrs. Williams holds Wendy secure above the deep water of the lower end of the pool. (Eccentric Photos)

Bon Voyage Party

Mrs. Stanley L. Willis of Stratford Lane was hostess Tuesday at a bon voyage luncheon held at the Grossette Pointe Yacht club on board the "Verlaime", the Willis' yacht. The party was in honor of Mrs. Anthony Mauldo of Grossette Pointe who is sailing for Europe to study art for two months.

Italian Consul-General Anthony Carloni and his wife were among the guests including Mrs. Laurence Hasse, Mrs. J. P. Moses and Mrs. Samuel Trude, all of Bloomfield Hills.

Completing the guest list were Mrs. William A. Ternas, Mrs. James Barnes, Mrs. J. A. J. Meyer and Mrs. Joseph Mauldo of Grossette Pointe.

The group took a short cruise following the luncheon.

Joint Ceremony for Five Soroptimist Clubs

with other hurt, sick dogs? From his actions grew the humane society.

"Can we put a price on the nine hundred dogs cited last year by this group going? But today he tells the world he is far happier than he has ever been before."

"There's a creed by which these devoted persons and clubs operate. It's very simple, but very powerful. It goes like this:

"I am only one but I am one. I cannot do everything but I can do something; what I can do I should do, what I should do I will do."

He told of the mother whose little boy returned home crying and with the beginning of a black eye. After treating the lad's eye the mother took him to the back porch, made him face the distant mountains and shout out all his preaves against the world and society. No matter what he called the other fellow the echo sent back the same message to his own ears.

WHEN HE HAD done, his mother told him one more thing to shout, "God bless you!" and again the echo sent back his words.

"This," Prof. Irvin said, "may be the only response you may hope for. It may be the only thing your club will ever get for the service it offers and does, but can anyone ask for more?"

Following his talk, Mrs. Arnold had the several special guests introduced before turning the meeting over to Helen Larkin, governor of the Soroptimist International.

Mrs. Larkin indicated the membership of the newest Soroptimist unit, South Macon County, a re-organized club of the former East Detroit group.

After explaining the meaning of Soroptimism, she turned to the installation of officers for this group, the Port Huron, Mich., Mt. Clemens and Birmingham clubs.

OFFICERS of the new club are Lillian Lawton, president; Mildred Start, vice president; Patricia Ward, recording secretary; Margorie Carlson, corresponding secretary; Ann Bernardo, treasurer; Grace DePrez and Ruth Kayser, directors.

ROCHESTER, Mich.—Helen Benson, past president's pin was in charge

president, Mary Edmondson and L. Bismarck, recording and corresponding secretaries, Helen Allen, treasurer, Leah Wilson, Ed Martin and Edna Davay, board.

Port Huron, Mich.—Mrs. Arnold had the several special guests introduced before turning the meeting over to Helen Larkin, governor of the Soroptimist International.

Mrs. Larkin indicated the membership of the newest Soroptimist unit, South Macon County, a re-organized club of the former East Detroit group.

After explaining the meaning of Soroptimism, she turned to the installation of officers for this group, the Port Huron, Mich., Mt. Clemens and Birmingham clubs.

OFFICERS of the new club are Lillian Lawton, president; Mildred Start, vice president; Patricia Ward, recording secretary; Margorie Carlson, corresponding secretary; Ann Bernardo, treasurer; Grace DePrez and Ruth Kayser, directors.

ROCHESTER, Mich.—Helen Benson, past president's pin was in charge

Joint Ceremony for Five Soroptimist Clubs

with other hurt, sick dogs? From his actions grew the humane society.

"Can we put a price on the nine hundred dogs cited last year by this group going? But today he tells the world he is far happier than he has ever been before."

"There's a creed by which these devoted persons and clubs operate. It's very simple, but very powerful. It goes like this:

"I am only one but I am one. I cannot do everything but I can do something; what I can do I should do, what I should do I will do."

He told of the mother whose little boy returned home crying and with the beginning of a black eye. After treating the lad's eye the mother took him to the back porch, made him face the distant mountains and shout out all his preaves against the world and society. No matter what he called the other fellow the echo sent back the same message to his own ears.

WHEN HE HAD done, his mother told him one more thing to shout, "God bless you!" and again the echo sent back his words.

"This," Prof. Irvin said, "may be the only response you may hope for. It may be the only thing your club will ever get for the service it offers and does, but can anyone ask for more?"

Following his talk, Mrs. Arnold had the several special guests introduced before turning the meeting over to Helen Larkin, governor of the Soroptimist International.

Mrs. Larkin indicated the membership of the newest Soroptimist unit, South Macon County, a re-organized club of the former East Detroit group.

After explaining the meaning of Soroptimism, she turned to the installation of officers for this group, the Port Huron, Mich., Mt. Clemens and Birmingham clubs.

OFFICERS of the new club are Lillian Lawton, president; Mildred Start, vice president; Patricia Ward, recording secretary; Margorie Carlson, corresponding secretary; Ann Bernardo, treasurer; Grace DePrez and Ruth Kayser, directors.

ROCHESTER, Mich.—Helen Benson, past president's pin was in charge

president, Mary Edmondson and L. Bismarck, recording and corresponding secretaries, Helen Allen, treasurer, Leah Wilson, Ed Martin and Edna Davay, board.

Port Huron, Mich.—Mrs. Arnold had the several special guests introduced before turning the meeting over to Helen Larkin, governor of the Soroptimist International.

Mrs. Larkin indicated the membership of the newest Soroptimist unit, South Macon County, a re-organized club of the former East Detroit group.

After explaining the meaning of Soroptimism, she turned to the installation of officers for this group, the Port Huron, Mich., Mt. Clemens and Birmingham clubs.

OFFICERS of the new club are Lillian Lawton, president; Mildred Start, vice president; Patricia Ward, recording secretary; Margorie Carlson, corresponding secretary; Ann Bernardo, treasurer; Grace DePrez and Ruth Kayser, directors.