

Cub Scouts Do Extra Good Deed

FRANKLIN—News of juvenile delinquency was pushed into the background this week by the actions of seven cub scouts.

In completing their Webelos work, preliminary to becoming boy scouts, the members of Den 6 of Cub Pack B-11 have decided to do something more than the requirements.

So quietly did they undertake their project that only a handful of parents and their den mother, Mrs. George Lowke, knew what was happening.

THE WHOLE pack descended upon Robert J. Searls, minister of church, and presented money earned from several projects, the chief one being the raising and selling of geranium plants.

They had placed the profits in a coin bank, as yet unopened, to be used to purchase a picture that will be hung in the sixth grade boys' classroom in the new church.

After explaining how the money was obtained and the purpose of the gift, seven pairs of eyes watched as the bank was opened and the money counted. Opening the bank, Searls poured out 10 dollars in nickels, dimes and quarters.

After thanking them for the gift, Searls placed the money in a special envelope to be stored until the picture is purchased. The cub scouts included Rickley Altmeyer, Bob Bihler, Lowell Lowke, Bob Rottiers, Edward Troutman, Jay Madge, and Danny Dowe.

Dog Owners Protest Rabies Vaccine Ruling

LATHRUP—Dog owners this week were upset by two occurrences here. One—that two dog owners in the city were issued licenses without having a rabies shot for their dog within the past six months.

And two—that residents received a post card which some dog owners described as "threatening."

The first happened in the city of Lathrup when a letter was sent to a dog owner stating that unless he had a rabies shot in order to obtain a license for a dog.

The letter stated that if the owner did not have a rabies shot within 10 days, the dog would be destroyed. The letter also stated that if the owner did not have a rabies shot within 10 days, the dog would be destroyed.

Two owners, Clyde R. Ickes of 27427 Lathrup, and Robert DuPuis of 27611 Cambridge, when they had to have their dogs immunized within the past six months, protested that the ordinance stated that dogs must be vaccinated last year, and because of the wording of the ordinance they were issued a license.

Mrs. Dale Alderman, of 27411 Lathrup, who said her dog had been immunized last year, stated that she was refused a license, although she said her dog was vaccinated last year.

"CAN YOU issue a license to someone whose dog has not been vaccinated?" she asked. "I would like to use the one that benefits me," said Mrs. Alderman.

No license, to my knowledge, was issued by City Clerk Mrs. James Cole, without an accompanying rabies certificate. Those who had a license issued by reference to the city attorney, said Leonard Watchowski, city administrator, who added that the attorney, Everett F. Hayes, advised him that anyone asking for a license who has a dog not vaccinated, should be granted the license because the ordinance does not define the word, "recent."

WATCHOWSKI said the council probably issued a ruling to define "recent" when they meet. However, he said, the council, or at a regular meeting July 18, "Everyone is kicking (about mandatory rabies shots for dogs) but no one is saying anything," said Mrs. DuPuis. "We had a license for our dog in 1954, and my husband figured that was recent enough."

The pool, 100 by 35 feet, was dedicated Saturday, June 25, the day before the boys moved into camp. The boys gratefully escape the algae of the lake, which Scouts for years, have aptly called "creeping crud."

Those going from this area were Drew Bellan, Charles Hartner, Bassler, Cullen, Dick LaBadie, Douglas Peock, Michael Kelly, Robert Nell, Mike Kelly, Ed Gilmore, and Dick Cruz.

Several of the dads who managed to spend a day or two with the boys at camp were Charles Hartner, Ed Corby, Frank Murphy, Jim Kelly, Clifford Brain and Russell Cole, said Mrs. Howard.

Several of the boys have already earned their swimming merit badge by working on the basketry badge.

Reservations may be made by phoning Mrs. Howard Keating, Jr., Mrs. W. H. Ferguson, Mrs. Anthony Foley, Mrs. Jack Carmichael, Mrs. Russ Seeburger or Mrs. Robert Wink.

Plan 15-Year School Expansion Program

$800,000 Bond Vote Tuesday

BLM. TWP.—Voters here Tuesday will be asked to approve an $800,000 bond issue to make possible the construction of a new school, additions and renovations of the old buildings and purchase of building sites, first step in a 15-year expansion program.

Polls will be open at the Vaughan school from 7 a. m. until 8 p. m.

ACCORDING to Eugene L. Johnson, superintendent of the Bloomfield Hills School District, the bonds will buy:

(1) A new, seven-classroom elementary school on Westview between Long Lake and Square Lake roads, just off Adams. Two wings can be added when needed.

(2) A six-classroom addition to the Wing Lake school.

(3) The purchase of five sites for future schools, four of which will be elementary and one a junior high school. One of the five sites is on Westview and the other is off Long Lake road between Middlefield and Orchard Lake roads on the Callow estate.

(4) Renovation of the old Vaughan high school, which will be converted to elementary use.

(5) Drainage, landscaping and general improvement of the site of the new high school of Long Lake west of Telegraph.

"IF WE can get out the voters, I am sure they will approve the bonds. We have a group of enthusiastic parents behind this program," said Johnson, who added that so far no organized opposition to the bond issue has been apparent.

By 1958 the recommended development program for the Bloomfield Hills school district (made by the Bureau of Research and Service, School of Education, Michigan State College) asks that a new elementary school be erected on the Callow estate; that six new classrooms be constructed at the proposed Westview street school; that a new elementary school be built north of Long Lake road between Franklin road and Telegraph; and construct additional classrooms, an auditorium, and a swimming pool at the new high school to care for an expected increase in enrollment.

By 1962 a need is seen for a new grade school between Quinlan and Long Pine roads west of Telegraph, construction of six new classrooms at the proposed school.

LATHRUP—Seven members of the Southfield High School club represented their group at the twelfth annual Key Club international convention held at the Hotel Statler July 3 through July 6.

They were Charles Gordon, Larry Hoiland, Bob Henson, Gary Evans, Larry Evans, Richard Bodnarz and Jim Douglas. Douglas was general chairman of the host committee.

Southfield high was one of six chapters attending from the Detroit area. Key clubs from the United States and Canada were represented, with Michigan clubs acting as hosts.

The key club is sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

Balloons swang over the Manix yard and record music played for the event. Later, children ate popicles.

It was second such bike parade the Manix's have staged, the other being three summers ago. Next day, Mrs. Manix reported children were coming to ask, "Next year, can we have another bike parade?"

WING LAKE—At their annual meeting last year, ago, the members of the Wing Shores Property Owners' Ass'n. voted unanimously a substantial contribution to a fund for the extensive improvement of beach frontage owned jointly by the members of this association.

The area at this point was all swamp, mud and seaweed. To swim it was necessary to own a boat and row out to the raft in large-size raft.

The mainland section is drying out, but will not be ready for grading. Seeding will be done in the fall so that next year a ready lawn will complete the park.

SINCE this facility is private to members only, it makes an ideal spot for members and their families and invited friends to spend their summer days. It offers a splendid life-guard to maintain safety and to protect the privacy for the members.

Initiate Plans For Creating Water District

BLM. TWP.—Plans have been initiated to pool the water resources of the township by combining the seven available wells for the purpose of establishing a single water district.

The process of forming the water district under the governorship of the township is expected to be consummated within two or three months, according to supervisor David E. Anderson.

ALSO INCLUDED in the plans is the erection of a million gallon reservoir in the township.

"There is no water crisis in the township," said Anderson, "and the reason for bringing together four private systems is for the sake of simplifying the water billing and a central township governing board."

THE FOUR systems included in the proposed integration are Koplin and Hassen, Westchester, Judson Bradley and Huntington Valley.

Judson Bradley has three of the wells which serve Bloomfield Hills.

The reservoir is in the future plans and would be the subsequent result of the pooling, according to Anderson.

Community Spirit Binds Sewing Club

By ANNA MCCLARY

WEST BEVERLY—For the past two years, about 30 West Beverly neighbors have met for an afternoon of sewing. Chattering and refreshments of the course of a social afternoon, but sewing has been the prime purpose of the group.

Recipient of the West Beverly sewing group's efforts has been the Sewdwork Guild, and everything turned over at that organization at the time of its fall meeting.

Girls dressed from 6 to 12 years, boys' sizes, sizes 7, 8, and many items of baby clothes are skillfully fashioned by those busy fingers.

Donald Kalmback of Bedford road, president of the sewing group, particularly praises the work of Mrs. Henry J. Guenther of Hillcrest, who has made 18 children's patchwork quilts so far this year.

Material for the quilts has come from scraps left over from the girls' dresses and boy's shirts. The quilts are backed with warm flannel.

Money for the purchase of materials has come from the Hostess work of Mrs. Henry J. Guenther of West Beverly sewing group. The Hostess club sponsors such community events as the sewing shows, luncheon and card parties and each year sets aside a certain amount of their budget for the sewing group.

A cohesive community spirit in West Beverly is evidenced by the fact that many members of the West Beverly Hostess club are also members of the sewing shows, garden club and the bowling league.

BESIDES Mrs. Kalmback as president, other officers of the group are Mrs. Henry J. Guenther, 18 Mile road, secretary, and Mrs. Wilma Welch of Devonshire road, treasurer.

The monthly meeting of the group will be held at the home of Mrs. Alice Kuntz, 6250 Highland road on Tuesday, July 12. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Herbert Wyatt and Mrs. Harold Souder, both of Devonshire. Women new in the subdivision, who are interested in becoming members of the group, are welcome to attend.

Charter Vote Will Require Reregistration

SOUTHFIELD—Although no date has been set for the charter election, city water in the township who wishes to vote on the issue will have to be re-registered, according to Mrs. Fanning Adams, township clerk.

State law requires that all voters be re-registered in the township the township has decided to institute a new filing system which will purchase from D. H. Diebold, Inc. of Detroit for $2,000.

A new State law, now waiting for the governor's signature, however, will delay re-registration, according to Mrs. Adams.

The law would change the affidavit forms and outdate any forms that might be ordered now.

THE NEW files are not only expected to be more efficient than filing in use, but are expected to cut down on the amount of space needed to store the documents, according to Mrs. Adams.

No voting date can be set for the charter election until the charter commission completes a charter. It is submitted to the governor and attorney general for approval. State officials will set the date.

Eugene Saem, township supervisor and charter commission chairman, said his work was to get the vote on the charter is expected in about five or six months.

Long Pine Officers Plan Improvements

WALNUT LAKE—Officers of the Long Pine Association met June 25, to make plans for further improvements on the beach area.

This beach, with an approach from Inkster road, which was cleaned off and fenced last year, belongs to residents in Long Pine three Bases of Bloomfield subdivision.

Present at the meeting held at the home of Cecil R. Moore, of Long Pine, were Mrs. A. Charles Anderson, Thomas Frank, William Lutz, Mrs. David Robertson, Gilbert Savage and Moore.

"Two trees on private property have been a great nuisance," according to Watchowski. "We are forced to remove all trees that are diseased and will be given a time limit by the state to cut those that are infested."

Watchowski said many residents have reported trees dying of the disease, and that the council should be advised of the situation at the next meeting, so they might map a course of action.

Bike Parade in Beverly Attracts 100 Viewers

Children from one block of homes and three other homes on Amherst in Beverly Hills paraded their bikes last Wednesday night before over 100 parents and other adults.

Organized by the Clarence Manix family, the parade included 31 boys and girls from two to 14 years, on bikes, trikes and one miniature tractor.

With much blowing of whistles, parade master Mrs. Manix herded each section of the bikers into their sections to pass before the two teenage judges, Carolyn Bates and Bill Gilbert.

PRE-SCHOOL-AGE tots in the first section had troubles pushing their three-wheelers on the dirt road blocked off by Chief of Police Philip LaVigne and a patrolman of Southfield township. The sidewalk and older youngsters bled up the road.

Tiny Kimberly June won "best of class" award; a four-inch paper "medal" in a first-class class. Five-year-olds, winner was Suzi Skrzycki, and other winners were Cassie Novak in the seven-year-old class, John Thorpe and Gary Lewk listed among eight-year-olds, Don Novak won among other ten-year-olds, and Bob Hoffner, winner among 12-13-year-olds.

They were Charles Gordon, Larry Hoiland, Bob Henson, Gary Evans, Larry Evans, Richard Bodnarz and Jim Douglas. Douglas was general chairman of the host committee.
