North Adams Little Red Schoolhouse Now Home to Newcomers

When a country school house no longer shelters children for study, song and fun and is abandoned in favor of larger, newer schools, it sometimes becomes a family home.

That's what happened to the old schoolhouse at Adams and South Boulevard when it was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. James Ashton and converted into a charming home.

The Ashton's address is 3995 South Boulevard. Ashton is an agricultural engineer with the Ford Motor Company.

The vacant fields and the tilled lands of North Adams continue to disappear as new homes are completed and new families move in, as subdivisions are filled and new ones begun.

A month ago Mr. and Mrs. William Armstrong moved from their home in Hickory Heights. Their two daughters are Darly Lynn, 6, and Audrey, 3. Armstrong is an industrial designer with Harley Earl Corporation.

Mr. and Mrs. John Haight moved from Detroit recently to 4225 Meadowlark court. They have one daughter, Linda, who is nine. Haight is an attorney in the industrial relations department at Chrysler.

MOVE TO CHARNWOOD

Mr. and Mrs. Roger H. Blackwood have moved into their new home in Charnwood, one of Blackwood's own subdivisions. Their address is 2560 Charnwood drive. A daughter, Nancy Ann, is two years old. Before moving here the Blackwoods lived at Nine Mile and Beach roads.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McFarlin of Pine Hill drive have a new baby at their house. Mark Christopher was born on Feb. 22.

Mrs. Emerson Brown entertained at luncheon last Thursday at her home on Brookdale and then took her guests to the Birmingham Musical.

Members of the Pine Hill group of the League of Women Voters invited their husbands to last Thursday's meeting to hear Harry MacLennan of the Troy Water Board speak on water and supply problems in this area. The meeting was held at the home of the John Hoppocks on Pine Hill drive.

The arrival of a new grandson was the event that took the Kingsley M. Browns to Shaker Heights, Ohio. They returned to their home on Charing Cross road last Sunday.

HEADS PROGRAM

Mrs. Robert Wardrop of Beach road was in charge of the three-day program the Junior League of Birmingham held this week, during which Hobbs Hunt Burton, consultant on welfare services for the Association of Junior Leagues of America, was a featured speaker.
