

Smith Alumni Event Is Set At Kingswood

"College for a Day" is coming back to Detroit again! This Smith College Alumnae-sponsored program will be held in the auditorium of Kingswood School Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills, at 10:30 a.m. on Wednesday, April 13.

The program of two lectures, separated by a "coffee break" should prove of great interest to all thinking women of this area. Mrs. Phyllis William Lehman, professor of Art at Smith, will talk on "Excavations on the Island of Santorace". Since 1948 Mrs. Lehman has been assistant Field Director of the Archaeological Research Fund of New York University.

The other speaker, James H. Durham, Jr., instructor of English at Smith, is a Yale graduate and is now working on his doctorate in the field of the Victorian novel.

IN COLLABORATION with Mrs. Martha England, also of the English department at Smith, Mr. Durham has made the first English translation of "La Cenereola" (Cinderella) which opened at the N. Y. City Center on March 20, under the aegis of the N. Y. City Opera Company. His talk at "College for a Day" will be on "Perspectives in Victorian Literature".
