FIKE DEPARTMENT
That was not a fire in the Fire Hall last Monday night. The activity was caused by volunteers who concluded their school season on rescue operations by setting off two smoke bombs in the hall and then, wearing air packs, entering the smoke-filled building. All this was practice for real emergencies.

The department was called out last week when they were called on to pump out the flooding hazard on the property of the L. J. DuValis on 14-Mile road. Although smoke was pouring out from under the eaves when the fire was first spotted by neighbor Mito Bowden, the firemen broke in and put out the blaze in short order.

Their longest job this week came last Sunday when they were called on to pump out the flooding hazard of School Hill had risen over two feet in the low land south of Carol road. They worked water draining off the tract and it took six hours with the portable pump and the pumper truck to pump out the Yinke basement and the lowland behind the Yinke, Albee and Tillotson and adjacent properties.

what's the newest TREND in men's clothing?

The trend today is toward a new athletic look of tall, trim neateness. And today's Trend (not the capital 'T') is a distinctive new styling by Hart Schaffner & Marx. It is setting the pace in "natural" styling throughout the country. Shoulders are more natural, not-wide looking. Lapels are longer and narrower, with lapel notches placed higher to help the tall-and-trim look. The slightly longer coat has a slim, straight-up-and-down look. Buttons are lower to carry through the illusion of height.

Where to see the new Trend? You'll see it wherever well-dressed men are seen. And naturally, we have it in several models as well as in a wide variety of fabrics. Why not come in and try on a suit or two?
