

Workshop Gives Parents Insight On BHS Programs

Parents of eighth graders at Barnum Junior high school met Thursday evening to learn how they can be of assistance to their children who will enter Birmingham high school next year.

In the panel discussion-type meeting required courses, elective, extra-curricular activities and counseling and guidance services were outlined by junior and senior high faculty members. Herbert Hengst, Barnum principal, with Ross Wagner, high school principal, had just returned from a convention for secondary school principals in Atlantic City, and spoke briefly on it.

WAGNER OUTLINED courses at the high school, requirements for graduation, job preparation and for advance training in special schools and colleges.

Other high school facilities covered included the physical education, Frank Whitney; musical activities, Arnold Berndt; art program, Mrs. Margaret Nichols; industrial education, Marilyn Smiley; Donald Grotte, counselor at the high school, discussed business education; Miss Dolores Gilhe, home making; Mrs. Carol Daring, general school activities and Mrs. Joyce Diaz, guidance services.

Triple Treat Coming

Three readings are in store for youngsters attending the 10:30 a.m. story hour at Baldwin public library Saturday. Miss Kathleen Picket, children's librarian, will read a Danish tale, "Piddiwa", "Millions of Cats", and Edward Lear's "Nonsense Alphabet".

TATTERSALL
KNIT BOXER TRIGS

Sizes:
Colors:

Boxer shorts — extra soft, absorbent and flexible because they're knit, not woven — now with washfast, non-fading Tattersall checks printed on the fine combed cotton. A special Carter's process keeps Boxer Trigs straight-hanging — and wrinkles seem to drop right off them. Fabric-covered, long-life, heat resistant elastic waistband. Full-cut seamless seat. Carter-Set — won't shrink out of fit.

SPECIAL NOTE: These boxer shorts need no ironing to look neat... because Trigs fabric is knitted!

TRAYS OF TRIM, TINY sandwiches were supplied frequently by committeewoman Mrs. Irving E. Oakes as she and three others led in carrying out plans for the Girls Town benefit for Birmingham Woman's club last Thursday at Community House. Mrs. Ralph Main, center, and Mrs. Wilbur Johnston, pouring, worked with Mrs. Melvin Deer, representing various groups within the club and the Junior Woman's club. Active in plans also was Mrs. Carl Rice, president of the club and daughter of Mrs. William Merrill, who headed up the state wide Girls Town drive when she was state federation president.

GIRLSTOWN FUNDS

were the goal as Woman's club members had tea poured by Mrs. Melvin Deer, seated, and others on Mrs. William Grabendike's committee Thursday at Community House. Pink gladiola marked the table past which guests filed for tea and snacks between card games in the main auditorium. Over 200 attended the event, donating toward homelife and guidance of Michigan's homeless girls.
