★ Smile a Minute... Two Indians had been interested in the building of a lighthouse on the rocky coast near their reservation. When it was completed they stood watching it every night. A thick fog came in one evening, and the siren blew continuously. "Ugh," said one Indian to the other, "the light, she shine; the bell, she ding-dong; the horn, she whoo-who; but the fog, she come just the same."

One hundred Brownies of Lathrup Village and their fathers celebrated the 43rd birthday of Girl Scouts with a father-daughter banquet last week. Southfield PTA Sees Skit On Mental Health Tuesday Southfield Area council of PTAs will present "The Room Upstairs" by Nora Strling, as the program portion of the April 5th meeting at 8:00 p.m. in the art room of Southfield high school. This program of presenting one act plays is the first of the Dramas of the American Theatre Wing, has been developed by Miss Katherine Bondurant, Council Director of Mental Health, in cooperation with Mrs. Bibby Leighton, a past president of Southfield PTA Council, who will direct the play, using a cast of local Parent-Teacher people.

Menotti Opera Makes Hit Here A capacity audience at Birmingham's Community House gave enthusiastic approval of Menotti's grand opera, "The Old Maid and the Thief," Friday evening, with several curtain calls for the four-member cast. Song by Marie Fox Wilson in the title role, Charlotte McCray, Virginia Zapf Person and William Aulin, the comedy scenes were perfectly cast and held its audience from the opening curtain.

THE PROGRAM was sponsored by Birmingham Musicals members to support the scholarship fund they maintain to send young musicians to summer study sessions. Judging from audience comments, this may be the first entertainment of its kind for Birmingham, but surely will not be the last. "That was great! We need more like it," was heard on every hand as men and women filed out into the lobby to be the season's top blizzard.
