

BIRMINGHAM CITY OFFICIALS this week estimated it would be 10 years before the land used for dumping purposes by the Southeastern Oakland County Garbage and Rubbish Authority north of Maple road and just east of Birmingham, would be ready for any kind of residential or commercial development. The authority, according to its bargain, still must seed some 400 to 600 feet of the northern part of the old dump and remove sand stockpiles. What the land (about 30 acres) will be used for now still is a question mark as far as city officials are concerned. (Eccentric Photo)

Southern Holidays Shorten Winter for Franklinites

It's a little confusing in Franklin Village these days but exciting, too, with so many residents returning from winter vacations in the South and others just about to leave.

The Buel Stars and their children, Jimmy and Carol, will take off this weekend for points south. They expect to spend some time at Daytona and then for the rest of their holiday, touring wherever their fancy dictates. Mrs. Starr's parents are holding down the home front in their absence.

In Florida now on a two-week vacation are Mr. and Mrs. Steve Kowalski, making Miami Beach their holiday headquarters.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Dozier, Jr. are on a two-week tour of Florida, too. Beyond visiting friends in Orlando, they have no other stops planned. They return to Franklin next Monday.

The Win-Himmans of Wellington road, who left on March 17 for a long drive, had as their houseguests last week Mrs. Green's sister and niece, Mrs. Merrill Gay and Ellen Gay, here from Washington, D.C. They left for home last Saturday.

The Harold Newshamers moved just down last week into their new home on Romany way.

Welcome to Mr. and Mrs. H. Stanley Maxson, formerly of Grasse Pointe, who are settled now in their new home on Wing Lake road. Their children are Patty, 6, in the first grade at Holy Name school, and Peggy, 3. Maxson is a manufacturer's agent for the Bellaire Drissen co. in Detroit.

Happy birthday to Diane Zern who will celebrate her seventh birthday this Saturday with a party to which she has invited "J. L." and Judy Barlesson, Martha Brown, Janice Caskey, Lindy Cooke, Gale and Angel Dadson, Lynn Egan, and Skippy and Casey McWilliams.

Donald Bonelli celebrated his third birthday last Monday by hosting a party at the Rosello home on Colony Hill road. His party guests were David Hacker, David Price and Pam and Dicky Quint.

NEW SIGMA KAPPA
Jane Kasten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kasten of Mountain View lane, was initiated into the Sigma Kappa sorority at the University of Michigan last Sunday. Jane is in her sophomore year at the university.

St. Anne's Guild will hold its April meeting at noon on April 6, one week ahead of the usual schedule, at the home of Mrs. Leo Burr, 31215 Lucerne drive. Co-hostesses at luncheon, before the business meeting, will be Mrs. John Sadlier and Mrs. Robert Squires.

Heard her on snowy, blowy Saturday last: "This day is for the birds, and I do mean penguins".

General news deadline is 4:30 p.m. each Tuesday.
