Newcomer Finds Spring Beauties In Birmingham

To the Editor: Was it an oversight, or did someone just forget . . . to tell the newcomers last fall, when they were gazing at the autumn beauty in the Dip on Maple to: "Wait until Spring touches it with her fingers!" (It wouldn't have been such a shock to see the green and pink and falls spilling out on everything.)

Then the proud little trees standing so strong amidst the cement around the stores in town. Knew they were 'thar' all winter but until they unfolded their green umbrellas of leaves I walked under them and around them and by them without too much awareness.

AND THE clerks behind the counters. They sell good things sure. But the best of their merchandise can't be talked on the salesheet. How WOULD one add up smiles, friendliness and kindness and not upset the bookkeeping accounts? You couldn't.

Nobody thought to tell the newcomers about these things. They had to find them out themselves.

Proscenium Members Picnic Friday Night

Proscenium is having a picnic tomorrow after school at the Kahn estate at Walnut Lake.

Co-chairmen are Noel Stookey and Palmer Ballinger. Angelo Angelucci, Mrs. Alice Tabor, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kass and Mr. and Mrs. William Kezal are the advisers.

In the afternoon there will be softball and swimming, with dancing in the evening. Arrangements are made for 125 people and letters have been sent to alumni at various colleges.

Within the next three weeks letters of application for membership in Proscenium will be accepted.
