

Publication Award For Cynthia Kelly

By MABEL HARABEDIAN

The diamond star award has been made to Cynthia Kelly, voted most valuable member of all publications staffs at Birmingham high school.

Active in other clubs, she is secretary of the Future Teachers' club and National Honor society, and corresponding secretary of Assembly club. Cynthia spends much of her time working on the Highlander as co-editor. She had 57 first place points and 14 seconds.

Jim Musby, co-editor of the Highlander, received first place points and 22 second places to be runner-up for the award.

With 40 points Megan Butler, editor-in-chief of the Piper, was third with 30 first place points and 14 seconds.

The award, which will be given every year, is a gold star pin with a diamond center. It is a National Scholastic Press association official award.

Receiving 12 points each were Barbara Coombs, IBM operator for the Highlander and co-advertising manager of the Piper; Noel Smith, IBM operator and feature editor of the Highlander, and sophomore Judy von Rosen, associate editor of the Piper and editor of the Highlander next year.

Instrumental, Vocal Program for Adams

Adams school will present its spring music program at 8 p.m. May 26, in the auditorium.

Fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh grades will take part in the instrumental portion while fifth through seventh graders make up the chorus.

Miss Jean Woodworth will direct the vocalists in a series of numbers including the entire group singing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Instrumentalists are under the direction of Harold Jones and will present several numbers including the always popular marches.

Betty Rodgers and Michael von Guntendorf will be featured in a violin duet. Chorus accompanists are Lois Johnson and Lili Clark.
