New Zealand Girl Will Attend BHS

By SUE BROWNE

Participating in the American field service program, students of Birmingham high school are looking forward to meet fall when Margaret Jenifer Davis, a 17 year old New Zealand girl, will become a member of the senior class.

Besides being an exceptional student, Margaret loves sports, particularly horseback riding and tennis. She also plays piano and guitar.

She will live with the Lawton C. Labor family of Birmingham whose daughter Sue is a sophomore and whose son Tom graduated last June.

AT THE END of the school year with other foreign exchange students, Margaret will take a bus trip through the eastern United States before returning home.

The program is to further friendly relationships with other countries, hoping foreign students will convey to their friends and families the truth about America and democracy.

This exchange program, costing $650 was supported by local students. In return for the foreign student spending a year in America, a member of the present Birmingham sophomore class will be selected to spend an all-expense-paid eight weeks in Europe.

CAP 'Job' Provides Many Odd Events

By BARB NOYES

The funniest things happen when doorbells ring!

Ask any CAP cadet, for they spent the last two Saturdays in Detroit delivering pamphlets for a paint and glass company.

The cadets took up the project to earn money for the squadron treasury. In less than six actual working hours, they delivered 4,500 booklets and earned $155.

In this time they encountered several who do not speak English, got bitten by several dogs and wore large holes in their shoes.

However, the squadron feels that the project was quite worthwhile and hopes to continue it on a once-a-month basis.
