Kingswood Girls Invite Fathers Pre-Play Meal

Kingswood students' fathers will be treated to a spaghetti-dinner, with the Cranbrook school's dining room transformed into "Daddy-O's Dive" with red and white tablecloths Saturday night.

The dinner will precede the Kingswood senior play, a George Bernard Shaw comedy "Androcles and the Lion."

Among those girls and their fathers dining to Italian music will be Jane Romney and her father, George, Kay Parling and her father, Raymond, Elizabeth Gossett and her father, William, Susan Allan and her father, George, and Catherine Bemis and her father, Henry.

Parents Announce Daughter's Troth

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Rosborough of Pilgrim road announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to Lt. John B. Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Rogers of North Woodward avenue.

Barbara attended Colby college at Waterville, Maine, and was graduated from John Robert Powers Modeling school in New York City.

Her fiance attended Wayland Academy in Wisconsin and was graduated from Princeton univer-

Bible Translator Makes Local Visit

Distinguished in the field of religion and famous as the first man to translate the Bible into the Aramaic language, Dr. George Lamsa, was the luncheon guest of Mrs. R. C. Rankin, 1436 Fernon, Saturday noon.

Other guests included Mrs. Corley Kirby, Mrs. Sam Parks and Mrs. L. G. Stainthorpe who accompanied Mrs. Rankin on a trip to the Holy Land last summer. It was during this journey that they made the acquaintance of Dr. Lamsa, now in Detroit to lecture at the Art Museum.

"He told us the history of the Holy Land and the conditions that exist there now," Mrs. Rankin said, "and outlined what he feels must be done to correct them."

She added that Dr. Lamsa expressed his willingness to speak in Birmingham at some future date should the opportunity present itself.

'Inkslingers' Hosted Here

The "Inkslingers," a writers club composed of women from Detroit, Birmingham, Grosse Pointe, and Lansing held its regular semi-monthly meeting Friday, November 4 at the home of the vice president, Mrs. F. E. McNeary on Riverside, West Beverly.

Following luncheon, the afternoon was spent in reading manuscripts and constructive criticism.

Those present were Mrs. Jack Regan, Mrs. Ralph Hildey, Mrs. Ernest Oswald, all of Detroit; Mrs. Walter Iley and Mrs. Christine O'Donnell of Grosse Pointe;

Mrs. John Lane of Birmingham and a special guest, Mrs. Marguerite Miller, who now resides nine months of the year in Arizona, but retains her membership.

MRS. MARJORIE King, chief editor of college publications at Michigan State University in Lansing, and Mary Bolt, script writer for Jam Handy Movie Co. of Detroit, were unable to be present. This club was founded in 1932 and was once a branch of the Highland Park Woman's Club.
