BHS Groups Busy With Broadcasting
 BHS's Junior Town Meeting of the Air will host four Birmingham high school seniors on the broadcast Dec. 10 7:30-9 p.m. with James Garrett, moderator, conducting discussion.
 Robert Richards, advisor, and members of the panel, Judy Collins, Karen Taracks, Bob Holmeyer and Mike Weidman, have not yet chosen the subject. Two students will present affirmative and negative discussion. Ross A. Wagner, principal, will speak briefly before the discussion. The show will have a live audience when it is taped from the Little Theater at the high school Dec. 7. Part of the program will be devoted to questions from the audience.
 At a program last week Ellen Outlee, Robert Berner, Marie Joyn and Robert Callahan turned the tables on Eric, Gen. S. L. A. Marshall, military analyst for The Detroit News, by asking the questions.

Walnut Lake School Observes 'Weeks'
 American Education Week programs, classes conducted in the windows of Mulholland's store, will see Miss Harriet Merritt's kindergarten, and Mrs. Eva Johnson's first grade representing Walnut Lake school. The latter group will demonstrate letter-making.
 Second graders in Miss Matthews' room have made a bulletin board in connection with Book Week, which follows immediately.
