

Harlan Addresses Engineers

C. Allen Harlan, Adams road, Birmingham, president of the Harlan Electric Company addressed the newly registered Professional Engineers at their annual dinner last week at the Engineering Society of Detroit.

"This Nation now enjoys the highest living standards known because of the high level of our technology and in a world of ever increasing technological complexity, there is a corresponding dependence upon the engineer," he said.

He also urged that private industry make more effective use of professional engineers and indicated that employing these engineers at sub-professional levels is wasteful to the employer and detrimental to the public welfare.

Among the 400 who received their state registration certificates following from Birmingham: Fredrick Lee Hutchins, 3115 Eisenhower Blvd., Joplin, Mo.; 1155 Washington Blvd.; Anselm John Hatt, 1962 Nippin; Lawrence S. Lee, 4296 Thayer Rd., Kentucky; F. Lemminger, 2242 Sheridan Dr., Joplin, Mo.; and J. E. McFall, 1949 Birwood.

There Are Some Occasions Which Just Naturally Call For

When that most wonderful of all odors the smell of roasting turkey fills the house the family will know that one of the year's big events has arrived.

Thanksgiving, a day when we pause to give thanks and a day whose highlight is the turkey dinner. The dining table will be spread magnificently with delicious traditional foods, and by tradition the table service will be... STERLING of course. The Splendor of rich gleaming Sterling just "naturally" goes with an occasion like the Thanksgiving dinner.
