

Every day brings opportunity for personal growth on one's job, in making friends, in uplifting one to higher, more happy levels of thought. Only the dense forest from that life in his head above forest catches the sunlight!

600 Club Women Throng to Tea

Centered with the American flag, a display of 60 flags of the United Nations carried out, the theme for the International Scholarship benefit tea sponsored by the Michigan division of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association.

The wives of foreign consuls, Mrs. Antonio Carloni, Italian, Mrs. Edward Moss, British, Mrs. George Everson, Danish and Mrs. Valnaic, German, joined with the 600 guests, gathering for the event and were pinned with corsages of Eurasia lilies with the colors of their nationality.

Proceeds from the tea will be used for the Farm Youth Exchange program, where students are exchanged with foreign countries for work and study in rural areas. The work is carried on by the 4-H club at Michigan State university.

Mrs. Frank Chapman, cooperation chairman, who introduced the speakers at the Leno Pine road home of Mrs. J. J. Vance in Bloomfield Hills, had entertained for them earlier in the day.

National representative to the United Nations for the WNFPA, Miss Frances Sawyer, wore a costume which was made in India and related some of her experiences. Sarojini Gadgil from Jabalpur, India, told of various phases of "Home Life in India" and performed a native dance demonstrating the harvest.

ADDITION to the theme, Mrs. Robert C. Vanderkloot, Mrs. Hugh D. Barkus and Mrs. L. R. Twayman had an unusual exhibit of international material.

Potted mums with a background of greens offered a perfect setting in addition to the flag display which was handled by Mrs. Dean Draper and Mrs. H. H. MacKenzie. General chairman of the afternoon tea were Mrs. Frederick W. Lines and Mrs. Louis Kahn.

MRS. MARK EDGAR of Grosse Pointe shakes hands with the wife of a British Parliament member, Mrs. W. M. F. Vane, who is on a tour of the U.S. with her husband.

NATIONAL officer, Mrs. J. C. Roberts, left, chats with the wives of Foreign Consuls, Mrs. Edward Moss, British, and Mrs. George Everson, Danish.

AMONG the hostesses for the 600 guests, Mrs. Roger Kyles, seated, pours for Mrs. G. Minnen Williams, left, and Mrs. Lyle Slaybaugh, Michigan State president.

MRS. T. M. ROBERTS To Tell Tale For W's Club

As Christmas program for Birmingham Woman's Club, Mrs. T. Melbourne Roberts, known well for her travel tales, and Birmingham musical juniors will perform.

The Woman's club is welcoming Mrs. Roberts to their speakers platform having heard her many times before.

For the past several years Mrs. Roberts, who lives on Yosemite, has done research in the realm of little known Christmas stories of unusual beauty.

THIS PROGRAM will be second time she has been invited to appear on the club's holiday program.

Her story this season has come down through the years from a land of story tellers, old Serbia. It is a tale filled with touching incidents in the life of a blind gypsy child that Mrs. Roberts promises will grip every member of the audience until the final miracle on Christmas eve.

The tale is revealed with the poetic beauty and charm of the old world.

The program will be at Community House, with a Christmas tea arranged by Mrs. Frank Russell and her committee to highlight the 1 p.m. event, on Dec. 6.

Mrs. Floyd Franklin is chairman of the day.

Panhel Secretary.
University of Michigan student Sally Wilkinson, 843 Arlington, Birmingham, was recently named secretary of Panhellenic Association. She is a member of Phi Beta Phi Sorority and a junior in the College of Literature, Science and the Arts.

Piano Concert Set for Dec. 2

Paul Pankton, who is presented in a concert Dec. 2 at the Birmingham Community House includes a wide variety of musical compositions on the program.

He will play The Fantasia in C minor, Beethoven's Sonata, Opus 28, Seven Sketches by Bartok, Little White Donkey by Ibert, Girl with the Flaxen Hair of Debussy, Poulenc's Toccata, Wurm by Schumann, and Chopin's Scherzo in C sharp minor.

The listed program of many composers ranges over a great period of years in the development of music for the piano. The technical demands cover practically all the problems of technique and interpretation required of the professional pianist and should be of interest to musical students as well as music lovers in general.
