Game At Ann Arbor Draws Many Residents of Village

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Stevenson of Williamsburg road entertained out of town guests last weekend. The Stevensons and their friends attended the pre-game party held Friday evening at the Old Wayne Club sponsored by the alumni of Ohio State. The group went out to Ann Arbor to watch the classic on Saturday and to cheer for Mr. Stevenson's Alma Mater—Ohio State.

Mr. and Mrs. John Morse and son Robert are spending Thanksgiving with the Robert Van Maurs of Hamilton road. The Morse family who now reside in Detroit, expect to be in their new home in Bloomfield Hills sometime after the first of December. Maur entertained at cocktails in their home after the Michigan-Ohio game. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Von Maur of Arlington, Ohio were their house guests for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Satten of Yarmouth entertained the same group for dinner at Oakland Hills following the Von Maurs party. The guests included, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schenck, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Van Maurs and five couples from Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stevenson; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sutter, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. James Benton, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Henderson and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Von Maur.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Voelker of Tibury road had as their guests for the big football weekend Mr. and Mrs. Glen Gierhart of Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walsh of Glenary road entertained a large group of friends for a Christmas dinner, and intend to entertain in like fashion this Sunday. Both groups included guests from Grosse Pointe and Dearborn.

Mr. and Mrs. Judge W. Bearden of Tottenham road with their daughters Susan and Patty, have spent the last week vacationing in Florida.

HELLO NEWCOMERS
Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence R. Nelson of Morningview Terrace are newcomers to the Village having moved here recently from La Salle high in Detroit. Mr. Nelson is with Campbell-Ewall, advertising firm. They attend the Augusta Lutheran church in Detroit and are members of the yacht club and the Revere club.
The Nelsons just returned from a short trip to their Fort Lauderdale home accompanied by their son and Mrs. Nelson's parents.
Plans for a huge luncheon party are being made for the James C. Nunneley, daughter of the James C. Nunneley of Hingham road will be hostess. The group consists of many girls from the junior and senior class of Birmingham high school.

We Heard It Said By: Turkey-Time Decoration Ideas Given

MRS. RENEE SERLES of the new Renee Finishing School, 511 Ridgeville road, Birmingham, stresses teenagers in our business has been encouraged by city officials and chamber of commerce leaders, both at our opening and since then. We like to work with teenagers and we've been told that the town has dancing schools and many other activities but nothing like the finishing school for teenagers. Things that go with the idea of girls wanting to become a lady and not knowing how, apparently are wanted here, so we're changing our emphasis from adult to teen-training.

school, Friday, Nov. 25 is the day elected for our occasion. Among the group will be Bonnie Wasson, Lynn Griem, Bunny Licht, Ann Lope, Jean Vanderkerk, Wendy Ross, Lynda Corbery, Jill Smith, Judy Klapperoth, Julie Smith, and Sue McCombe.

"A horn of plenty is especially appropriate but there are so many ideas for centerpiece arrangements at Thanksgiving time," Mrs. F. Louisa Davis of the Birmingham Garden club told us for our day before Turkey-Day issue.

Though many holiday hostesses have already planned their main table piece for tomorrow, suggestions for those ladies less prepared might be dried material, fruit and figurines.

Among items seen in prize-winning floral display at garden club exhibits are the dried branches and berries, nuts, and driftwood. Mrs. Davis reminds us:

"CORN, SMALL gourds and the lovely chrysanthemums in fall tones are favorites," says Mrs. Davis. "Just a plain fruit arrangement is good because of the lovely reds of apples, shiny greens of avocados, the gold tones of grapes, and a few nuts for added interest."

Browns and beiges for tablecloths are interesting at harvest time, she points out. Tableware often includes the turkey tray and plates that families use especially for the traditional dinner, and turkey-imprinted paper plates for cold sliced food at that late evening snack are often used, she suggests.

Returning hunters bringing game racks from the northland, many interesting dinners.
