

Named 2nd 'Louie' At Jr. School

According to special orders published by the Junior School of Riverside Military Academy, of Gainesville, Fla., and Hollywood, Fla., Capt. Jasper Wayne Wellman, nephew of Mr. James Karpis, 4905 Beach Road, Birmingham, Michigan, has been named second lieutenant of the Riverside junior school unit.

Particular importance attaches to junior school promotions since this is a separate department for younger boys of the well-known military school which has won highest official designation as an honor school on the basis of thirty-one annual Department of the Army inspections.

Eleven Bachelors Declare Loneliness; Stage Dinner

Eleven lonely bachelors at Cranbrook school for Boys have issued invitations to their annual "blast" and this year expect about 200 guests.

Though it is an annual event when the staffers reveal all their social debts incurred throughout the year, the group includes three young marriageable bachelors to the staff, according to the list.

The group's double-posted invitation calls themselves "continually desperate—in their search for hearth and home."

The event, to which about 200 friends are expected, is tonight at Cranbrook cabin, with cocktails at 5:30 p.m. being followed by supper.

THE RSVP cards included five possible answers which those invited might check: "I am bringing a single lady guest of exceptional grace and beauty, over six-under-sixty. I am unable to bring such a person but I will attend and refer you to a special here for suggested girl and her phone number. I am applying for divorce and think that this is a great idea—I wouldn't miss it. I am bringing my wife. I am going to grandmother's house for Thanksgiving and will be unable to attend."

The eleven hosts are Bob Hoffman, who teaches history, John House, art, Ken Snyder, history teacher who also works the soccer team; Carleton Klein, admissions representative and alumni secretary; and Julius Corubia, Spanish teacher, and aid in soccer coaching.

OTHERS ARE Don McEwen, new math teacher, Bert McMahon, new physics teacher; Gerry Rytke, business manager; Bill Green, new art teacher; and Fred Campbell, math teacher, house-father at Marquis hall, and coach of baseball and football.

The eighth man in Jack Sanders, who on his own time assists Campbell with the baseball team and is an enthusiastic alumnus.

Strung along the walls of the cabin will be comical caricatures of proposed wives for the eleven bachelors.

Garden Club Sees Japan On Film; Plans Workshop

Tuesday's Birmingham garden club meeting featured Mrs. Terry Yamasaki's music and display of Japanese pictures. The pictures are records of Japanese gardens that her architect husband, Minoru, took in late 1954 and early 1955 on two trips there.

The photographs, that members of the Birmingham branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden club admired for their portrayal of the colorful florals and collected by Mrs. Everett Wells and her international cooperation committee will be sent for work Yamasaki aid in designing the American consulate in Japan.

Next Garden club event will be the garden workshop, an all day affair with this year, a do-it-yourself theme.

ON HAND WILL be several women who can help people make their own Christmas decorations, and the experiments turned out by members during the day will be shown in an evening display for their family and friends.

This, according to Mrs. F. Gordon Davis, will be an ideal spot for Yule-planners to glean ideas, "for Mrs. Frank Webb is in charge of the teaching, so you know how splendid it's going to be."

The chairman of the entire event is Mrs. William McCallum, and the event will be Dec. 13 at the community house. The doing-it will start about ten a.m.
