

So much of one's day, in this period of time, is spent on matters merely touching life's superficial facets... even though one cannot get away entirely from distractions, even an hour a day in quiet restful reading is worthwhile.

"DEAR MR. Eisenhower: We hope you will enjoy this laprobe we have knitted for you. With best wishes for your continued recovery, Ladies of the Senior Workshop (ages 60-93), Birmingham, Mich." This is the note which goes with the robe displayed by Mrs. Andrew Wylie, Mrs. W. R. Smith and Mrs. John Orr, who represent the knitting group. Other SW members prepare huge stacks of cancer pads. Sponsored by the Community House, the ladies meet there regularly for sewing, knitting and visiting.

Traveler Honored Before Departure

By FRAN MAIER

Off to Florida on Tuesday for a permanent trip was Jeannette Nicol, who plans to make her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nicol of Longbeach, formerly of Bloomfield Hills.

A former trustee of the Detroit League for the Handicapped, Miss Nicol has been manager for the last several years of the Junior League shop in Detroit's David Whitney building, up to the recent discontinuance of this downtown outlet for articles made by the handicapped. She also has been in charge of the League for the Handicapped's summer sales.

Jeannette was honored at a luncheon party last Thursday at the DAC by members of the board of trustees of the Detroit League.

Yellow and white chrysanthemums decorated the luncheon table for the farewell party, which took place in the big private dining room. A handsome piece of luggage was the trustee's gift to the traveler.

Attending the party from Bloomfield Hills were Mrs. Edward S. Welby, Mrs. Walter O. Briggs, Jr., and Mrs. Robert Lee Graham, Jr.

A Weekend of Thrills

One of the most thrilled little boys at the parade Monday night was probably 9-year-old Bobby Emery of Camp Oakland. He has been adopted as a project by the Birmingham Junior Woman's club and was a weekend houseguest of the Allen Sidoms on Sheffield. Saturday for him was a shopping spree at Northland, at which time he was outfitted with a new club suit uniform, having recently become a member. Other happy hours included his "Help the Poor" treats, a church Halloween party and the parade.

New Home, Guest—Grandmother too!

Newcomer to Birmingham, the Daniel Wedels, 1289 North Glenhurst had as a recent houseguest, Mrs. Wedel's sister-in-law, Miss Evelyn Pomeroy, who just arrived from Japan.

Miss Pomeroy had been with the Red Cross as a secretary in Tokyo and Okinawa and gave herself a vacation in Hong Kong while serving there. She went to Washington (See SUBURBAN SCENE, Page 1, Sec. 2)

Even Men, Dogs, Help JL Follies

In spite of appearance of one act, the Junior League Follies is not going to the dogs!

A group of 13 local businessmen have given their support for the Follies and will appear in a musical number—along with 13 dogs.

Poaches will range from poodles hunting dogs and the act promises to be one of the show's highlights.

Appearing in the number will be Mayor Charles Renfrew, former mayor, Chad Ritchie, W. Carleton Scott, Harold P. Bierer, Vergil Gibson, Bud Carrigan, Bill Sennett, Police Lt. Henry Timm, Les Bent, Jim Peabody, Ford Brock, Victor Peck and Dick Young.

TICKETS for the Nov. 8 and 10 performances are still available in limited numbers and may be purchased at the Birmingham theater office, where the Follies will be staged, from any League member or at League shop on Hamilton street. Orders may be left at the Bargain Box, Woodward avenue. All seats are reserved.

Thursday the Can-Can number will be presented on the 12 p.m. television show over WBRB, while on Saturday WWT-TV's Bob Maxwell will present a vocal evening. Models will again appear in store windows this Saturday. A number of dresses, some of which will be worn in the show, which are the property of League members' mothers "quite a few years ago."

Lucille Norman Headlines Show

Mady Birmingham and Bloomfield members of the Detroit Athletic Club are going to town next week for one or another evening of the DAC's six-night dinner-floor show gala. The week-long activity will open Monday, Nov. 7, and continue through Saturday, the 12th.

They'll gather in the club around 7 o'clock for dinner and dancing before the 9:30 show to be headlined by Lucille Norman, singing and dancing, and Emery Deutch and his orchestra, and Emery Deutch, brilliant violinist and composer, will feature some of his own gypsy airs during the week-long gala.

A few of those with reservations for small groups on opening night are Mr. and Mrs. Howard T. Keating, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Riecks and the William S. Spiegels.

Among those with tables for one or another of the following evenings are the Robert W. Wolf, the James C. Nameleys, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Pease, Jr., the W. M. Bullock, the John E. Eckenrode, the Bernard Goodes, the Russell H. Walkers, the Edgar B. Flints, Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Ahlers, Charles A. Deaga, the Karl Pfeiffers and the Sidney Norwoods.

DR. H. B. YOUNG

Dr. Young Talks Here To AAUW

Dr. Herrick B. Young, president of Western College for Women, Oxford, Ohio, will speak on "Thirty Thousand Unofficial Ambassadors" at November meeting of Birmingham branch, American Association of University Women, in Community House next Wednesday.

Following a luncheon for members at 12:45 p.m., Dr. Young will be introduced by Mrs. H. K. Berge, fellowship chairman.

Dr. Young was chosen as director of Western College for Women in 1953, the year the trustees announced a new program of international emphasis—a pioneering project in American undergraduate education for women.

Gowns of Autumn Hues Worn by Attendants

Attendants wore autumn colors shading from green and burnt orange to wine and coral for Susan Joyce Carey's marriage to Terry B. Dye Saturday afternoon at Kirk-in-the-Hills. The Rev. Harold C. DeWind officiated before 250 wedding guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Carey of Middelet road, where the reception was held. Mr. and Mrs. Ted C. Dye of South Bend, Ind., are the parents of the bridegroom.

Susan's white silk floor-length gown had a chapel sweep, long sleeves and a bateau neckline. Her fingertip veil was of imported Brussels lace and she carried white orchids surrounded by fuji mums and ivy.

IN BALLERINA length dresses and carrying fuji mums in fall colors were Mrs. Robert L. Moon, sister of the bride, and matron of honor, Peggy Paige, Elaine Palmer, Barbara Folin, Lynne Carey and North F. Carey, bridesmaids.

The groom asked his father to act as best man. Guests were seated by North F. Carey, Steven M. Cornell, Ted C. Dye II, Robert L. Moon, Jack M. Lovell and Donald T. Cobwell.

Mrs. Carey chose a beige lace sheath dress with brown accessories and Mrs. Dye, a green full-skirted dress. Both mothers had brown orchids.

When the couple started their trip to Florida Keys, the new Mrs. Dye donned a navy wedding matching accessories and a light blue topcoat.

DOROTHY FARRELL

Bloomfield Girl, Former Resident To Marry Friday

Dorothy Janet Farrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Farrell, 10 Pembroke drive, Bloomfield Hills, will be married Friday, Nov. 4, to Roger Benton Collier. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Collier of Vista, Calif., formerly of Birmingham.

Cotillion for Younger Set

Local Younger Set Flocking to Opera

Younger set from Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills are taking part in the Detroit Grand Opera Festival, with busloads and carloads going down to Masonic temple for performances that begin Nov. 19.

From Cranbrook, Kingswood and Cranbrook for Boys, students are going on several buses for the "La Boheme" performance. Their excursion has been planned by Mrs. Steven E. Bauer, Marion Goodale and Bertina Seifert of Kingswood, Harry Hovey, Ben Snyder and Jane Leader and the boys' school.

THOUGH MANY Bloomfield Hills high school students will be taking in the Opening night performance, the school will have an organized group going, possibly by bus on Nov. 23, Thanksgiving Eve, according to C. A. Luchtmann.

"Love for Three Oranges" has been chosen for the matinee trip arranged with aid of Arnold Bernd. The modern opera-matinee and school-bus trip is in hands of Mrs. Richard B. Barragh, Peggy and Libbeth; Mrs. B. B. Kelley, Nancy and Patricia, Mrs. Donald Hulton and her two children, and Mrs. Floyd W. Hunt and her three children.

Another group will include Mrs. William H. Howe, recently moved here from New York, and daughter Nancy, with Mrs. Edson Huhn, daughter Susan, and Mrs. Stanley S. Krentel.

Grandmothers who will bring their grandchildren will include Mrs. Leslie C. Allman, with Susan, John and Lynn, and Mrs. Mildred O. Collier, with two grandchildren.

Mrs. Don Young will bring her daughter, Susan and a friend, Penny Hauser.

Freshman Treasurer

Sally Sharp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude E. Sharp, 144 Fairfax, has been elected treasurer of the freshmen class at Michigan state university. Sally, a Birmingham girl, is a high school graduate, wrote during the summer, while competing in numerous amateur matches in the area.

IN CHARGE of the final social program of the season for Birmingham country club are Mrs. Arthur Zebede, Mrs. Robert J. Slavsky and Mrs. Jere Dorough. The holiday decorations luncheon will be held Nov. 16.

Fun With Foods

Guests Do Work at Franklin Clambake

By DOROTHY JEAN ZACK

"Everybody pitches in and helps," is the motto when the Roy L. Jones entertain at their summerhouse, down the hill from their home on Telegraph in Franklin.

Two clambakes on successive weekends didn't seem any trouble at all for the couple, who have a knack of getting the husband out into what was sunshine the previous week but was a bit chilly last Saturday afternoon, to cook the clams.

When the clams are scrubbed, they are put in layers with seaweed, from the wire basket, into the large garbage cans that have spouts attached at their bases. Fire blazes up about them from the chinder-block stove built on the hillside.

Clams are flavored with celery, spices, in baking.

"We have so much besides the (See CLAMBAKE, Page 2, Sec. 2)

Fete Music Teachers

Community's music teachers were feted at dinner at Mejel Brazette's home on Park last night when Mrs. Gunnar Karlstrom, coordinator for the Detroit Grand Opera association, dismissed the Opera Festival. Present were the Misses Alma Passabender, Doris Herndon, Phyllis Gardner, Joyce Frank, Marion Olds and Eunice Ruff; and Victor Ulrich.

Town, Hills Mothers Do First Plan

Early in the fall, a group of Birmingham and Bloomfield mothers got together and decided that it was about time their young fry had something planned for them in the fun line.

Something they could enjoy close to home, instead of driving all over the countryside, something that would bring them into closer contact with other youngsters in their vicinity and something that was easy and social enough to compel their interest, they also sought.

Out of all this, the Cotillion Club evolved—a membership affair, with invitations going to just sophomores and juniors in Birmingham and Bloomfield High, Kingswood and Cranbrook.

There will be four parties this winter, all of which will take place at Bloomfield Hills Country Club. The first of the dances is scheduled for the end of Nov. 25—and during the Christmas holidays a tea dance is slated.

EACH MEMBER is permitted to bring one guest who isn't a member if he or she desires—and as to dress, it's to be formal or ballerina-length for the young ladies, dark suits as to the boys.

The children themselves have helped with the invitation list and acceptances are rolling in at a terrific rate. Because the Club can only accommodate a certain number, membership will be a matter of first come, first served—but a waiting list for next year is being maintained.

SPONSORS for the parties include Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Senon Knudsen, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Usher III, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Palk, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John C. Ridley, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest F. Kern, the George Russells, the Edgar A. Guesta, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Andraeg, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Forster, Jr., the William A. Reids, Mr. and Mrs. David W. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. E. Curtis Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Hragav and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew G. Brodie.

Saturday's get-together at Bloomfield country club was simply one in a series of committee meetings, always inevitable when a brand new organization is getting underway.

Zeta Taus to Form New Alumni Group

Zeta Tau Alpha sorority is forming an alumni chapter for persons living in Bloomfield, Birmingham, Franklin, Northville and the surrounding areas.

A tea is being planned Sunday, Nov. 6, at the home of Mrs. Everett Longenecker, 555 North Glenhurst road, Bloomfield village.

On the committee are Mrs. Julian Galtley, Mrs. Wayne Hill, Mrs. Wayne Watterson and Mrs. Allen Toxcan.

Special guests will be the previous president, Mrs. H. W. Babcock, Mrs. Gerty Waite of Flint and Mrs. Harold W. Keeg of Detroit, all national officers.

The local philanthropic project of the Zeta Taus is a monthly birthday party at the mental hospital in Northville.
