700 Hear Talk Opening Hills School

Theme of dedication talks at Blossfield Hills high school Sunday for 700 parents attending was keyed as Supt. of Schools Eugene L. Johnson quoted Edward Markham's "Why build these buildings glorious unless the builder also grows?"

Johnston's pledge of the staff to develop young men and women preceded PTO council president Thomas A. Stacey's talk pertinent to determination in the Hills community to save a community center and school for educational programs and adult education.

SPEAKERS were introduced by Edgar C. Thorne, librarian and Kenneth Hills gave the dedication prayer. Along same theme, "America Our Heritage" and "Bless This House" were sung by the high school choir directed by Clarence mended by DPW Supt. Robert Kenning, who said it "has proven its reliability and competence". City Manager D. G. Egert said this contract award "is one of the closest such bids I have seen, and a tough one to decide."
