Youngsters in Social Light As Birthdays Are Celebrated

Neighborhood small fry have had their party at social dinners last week as two of the local youngsters were given parties in honor of their birthday.

Diane Marlin, who became old enough to enroll in kindergarten this fall, turned five years old on Friday, Oct. 14 and celebrated the occasion on Saturday to give every one a chance to be present.

Guests were Paula Brouncker, Margery Mary, Douglas Clayton, Mark Moore, Sandra Boone, Christine Worth, daughter of the late Jack Worth, of East Dartmouth.

Naval Nurse Home on Leave

WALNUT LAKE — The John Parkins of Eastman boulevard are happily visiting with daughter Pat, of the U.S. Naval Nurse Corps, who is home on leave.

Pat, who has been stationed at the U.S. Naval Hospital in Charleston, S. C., for the last 33 months, drove here for a visit with her family before reporting to duty at her new post at the U.S. Corona Naval Hospital, in Corona, Calif.

Pat reports that all registered nurses or girls in training at the present time, interested in joining the corps, should contact Miss Margaret Gattin in the Federal Building, Detroit.

The reserve period is for two years, after which the girls are free to return to civilian life, or sign up again for any length of time, with a six months minimum. Quarters, food, insurance and medical care are provided the personnel.

We Heard It Said By:

MRS. WILLIAM BRICKER, 19001 Beverly 13, Southfield township: "Parent-teacher associations and other groups can keep women terribly busy. I think we all take on a little more than we should, and we always get more than we bargain for. There's hospitality committees and ticket committees, and then some president asks you to be chairman of an event. It can build up too fast."
