SAK, WHO came to this country as a boy, was apprenticed to a cabinetmaker. He got his love for antique furniture when he was sent to a private home to polish furnishings.

His own search for knowledge has carried him to his present position of unopposed authority about furnishings which were a part of our colonial life.

DAR show chairmen said they felt his visit and words of praise were among the highest honors they could receive.

They deemed the show a success and said many patrons had stopped to say they thought it the best yet staged here.

CATHY and PHYDEAUX
French Poodle—Bedtime Compeer
A soft and cuddly "quiet hour companion", Phydeaux was a special gift for Cathy Eddy on her ninth birthday. Cathy feels life is complete with her real live animals, a doberman pinscher "Dobe", "Comfy" the cat and now a bedtime mate.

Children gathered after school Friday at the Heather lane home of Cathy's parents, the Robert Eddys, for the celebration.

Places were laid for 12 little friends at a table adorned with jump ropes and bubble sets in variegated colors as individual prizes. The serving of ice cream and cake topped with rosettes followed.

Besides the honor guests' playmates, present were her third grade teacher at Franklin, Mrs. Carl Gavic; her present teacher of the fourth grade at Walnut Lake school, Virginia Pecha; Mrs. Walter Sahlin and Mrs. Keith Gilchrist and children Jennifer and Jonathan.

ARRIVAL OF A GENERAL is sidelight to dinner at Detroit's Stockholm, arranged by women's committee of Detroit Opera association.

Localite Greets a General

While Jean Dalrymple was among honor guests at a dinner heralding opera season for business and professional girls, the lovely producer of New York City theatre and member of the NYC scener board was joined by her husband, General Philip C. Ginder, U.S. Army.

General Ginder, who commands the Fifth army, stationed at Fort Sheridan, Ill., was enroute to confer next morning with Governor Williams at Lansing, he told the women.

Mrs. Walker A. Williams, shown at left with the general and wife, spoke at the dinner, as did Mrs. Cinnar Karlstrom, who presided. Among career women who attended was Mary Sue Ekelund, of MacManus, John and Adams, Inc.

Two Opera artists who sang were accompanied by Robert Bates, at the piano. Bates is music director at Cranbrook.
