MRS. JAY S. VAN DYK

Golden Yellow Frocks Worn by Attendants

Waltz length crystallite frocks in golden mummy yellow gowned six attendants preceding Margaret Beverly Elliott down the aisle of Kirk-in-the-Hills Saturday. She exchanged vows with Jay S. Van Dyk at 4:30 p.m. with Dr. DeWitt Jones, minister emeritus of Central Woodward church, Detroit, officiating.

The bridal gown of imported French chantilly lace had an open neckline, outlined in tiny seed pearls and crystals. The lacy waist topped a very full skirt which was backed by layers of tulle. The skirt ended in a court train. A cap of chantilly lace held in place her French illusion finger-tips veil and she carried a cascade of sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

MARGARET'S attendants carried yellow faji mums and blue cornflowers. Mrs. John C. Diefenderfer, Jr., a sister of the groom of Chicago, was matron of honor and Barbara Roshoroug of Birmingham was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Carol Padon Louis of Bloomington, D. Lorette Burke of E. St. Louis, Ill., Nancy Egan of Newport, R. I. and Barbara Stauffer of Birmingham.

John C. Diefenderfer, Jr., was his brother-in-law's best man. Seating the guests were Henry C. Faith, Peter F. Treman, Jack R. Alexander and Edward C. Grant.

THE BRIDE is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest P. Elliott of Stratford Lane, Bloomfield Hills. Her husband's parents are the Stanley A. Van Dyks of Chicago. For her daughter's wedding and reception at Plum Hollow Golf club, Mrs. Elliott wore a mink

Reveal Betrothal To Cornell Grad

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Zucker, 706 W. Long Lake road, Bloomfield Hills, announce the betrothal of their daughter, Judith Claire, to David W. Clark.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Clark of Skaneateles, N. Y. Judith received a bachelor of science in 1952 from Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y., where she is currently working for her master's degree in animal nutrition.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Cornell with bachelor's and master's degrees in electrical engineering, specializing in microwave development. He served two years in the U. S. army aviation, stationed at the Frankford Arsenal in Philadelphia and was discharged as a sergeant. He is presently doing research for the coast guard.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Maxine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ward James and Donald's parents are the Neil Van Enams of Washington D. C. Rhinestones centered the Swiss embroidered flowers applied on the bodice and skirt of the floor length gown of nylon tulle. Accents were a Peter Pan collar of taffeta and a crushed taffeta cummerbund. Her veil of silk illusion was fastened to a tiara of rhinestones and seed pearls. She carried a white Bible, topped with roses, stephanotis and ivy.

MRS. Waldron Vaughn of Beverly was matron of honor and Nola Dossley of Birmingham, bridesmaid. They wore identical frocks of aqua silkeline and carried bouquets of yellow roses. Waldron Vaughn was best man. Ushering were Harley James, brother of the bride, and Paul Van Enam, cousin of the groom. The new Mr. and Mrs. Van Enam will reside in Durham, N. C., where the groom is attending Duke university.

Bit O' Verse

A GENTLEWOMAN
Her life was one of kindly deeds
For others in all walks of life,
She, in life's garden planted seeds
That staked the ugly weeds of strife.
She loved life's simple every days
Evaluating the great plan
Of the Creator and His ways
For manifesting love to man.
And even in her last lone hour
With life's sustaining god,
She stooped to lift a drooping flower
Before she went to God.
