School Opening Brings Many Home from Vacation Spots

School opening, now in the offing, brings many home from their favorite vacation spots.
 Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ostrom who, with their two children, Margaret, 12, and Sharon, 6, have been spending some time at Hubbard Lake are back home now at 18615 Warwick.
 Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cummins Jr. had a double vacation this year. Taking the children, they went to Lake Haron, north of East Tawas, where Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cummins, Sr. have a cottage. This was an ideal place for the younger members of the family.
 After two weeks they returned to their home on Kirkshire and leaving the children in good hands, took off over the New York Thruway for Connecticut.
 Their objective was a wooded lake where they joined Mr. Cummins' brother, Robert, Warner from Wilmington, Del., and his family at their cottage.
 After a week of getting acquainted with some of the younger members of the Warner family which they had never seen before, Mr. and Mrs. Cummins came home, not by the summer route, but at a less speedy rate over a beautiful route.
 Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Forbes of Buckingham road had no trouble choosing what direction to give a weekend trip, as their son, Gordon, was at Camp Nissidone, acting as counselor this summer and they spent a short time with him. He will soon be leaving for the East, as on September 22, he will enter Yale Divinity school.
 Dr. and Mrs. F. F. Deltow have returned from a pleasant trip to Portage Point Inn, on Portage Lake. With them were their friends, Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Callamore of northwest Detroit.

BON VOYAGE PARTY

The youngsters are having a last fling before settling down to a grim vista of study halls and assignments. Goodbyes also have to be said in many cases and it was at Nancy Bowen's on Bedford Friday night that a bon voyage party was given for Thomas K. Burt. The honored guest chine for dates and later the roof of it.

They were Linda Gray, Beulah Rice, Mary Lou Couch, Carolyn Link, Betty Baker, Dick Morse, Palmer Hollinger, Bill Heyinger, Don St. John, Tom Kegel, and Nancy and Tom. Games and records were played which took up

SURPRISE PARTY

July Kaimbach gave a party last week at her home on Bedford Road for her friend, Linda Chapman.
 It was a surprise and a huge success the guests report.
 Those invited were: Calla Benson of Mayfair, Emil Tucker of Devonshire, Carla Foster, Sally Pope, and Genevieve Kender, all of Birmingham, and the honored guest.

Barbecue supper was served in the yard and then a scavenger hunt was held. This always entertaining and exciting experience, and when seven teenagers start out in different directions to accomplish the impossible, something is bound to happen.

The most difficult thing to find, July reports, were a feather from a wild bird's wing and a diamond, which is practically out of season. But the best thing they found, all the girls agree, was a new family in the neighborhood that included a "real cut" boy, aged sixteen.

The hunt over, they returned to the Kaimbach home and spent the rest of the evening playing charades.

Still another party in the high school crowd was a surprise for Sandy Keene of Evergreen road. It was held Wednesday, August 24 on her birthday.

The party was given by her friend, Betty Baker, assisted by Don Kristola. Games and music made it an interesting evening, particularly for Sandy.
