

Teamwork Beautifies Waterfront

WING LAKE — Shoulder to shoulder, some 15 to 20 men of Wing Lake Property owners association worked as a team Saturday morning, erecting a rustic fence across the entire waterfront frontage.

Headed by Jack Bohner, Worthington road, they not only accomplished the fence, but raking the parking area, raking and seeding some of the park, watering the new lawn, and, in general, drawing to completion the beautiful new waterfront project for this year, the pride and joy of every member of the association.

THE GREAT majority of the association's members contributed a substantial sum of money to realize full use and enjoyment of their waterfront.

Bohner and his committee have spent hours of diligent thought and physical exertion, doing much of the work themselves, to make this dream come true.

Children, parents and friends of these families have had a summer of fun and frolic on the new beach this year. Many have foregone planned cottage vacations because they found they had everything the same, right at their own lake, plus the comforts of home.

Birthdays, anniversaries, guests, births, parties are all news—call the society editor about them.

Provencher Family Has Narrow Escape on Narrow Mountain Road

Mrs. W. F. Provencher of Wiltshire drive with her children Nancy, 5, and Douglas, 7, spent a month in Colorado this summer. They visited friends and relatives in Denver and Colorado Springs.

Driving down Clear Creek Canyon road after a visit to historic old Central City, rain dislodged a huge log which came hurtling down the hill into their car. Although the car was a complete wreck and Mrs. Provencher was just able to catch Nancy before she was thrown from the car, no one was hurt.

A vacation in Michigan at Osego Lake and Brand Traverse Bay with Mr. Provencher followed the adventures and, then home to celebrate Doug's seventh birthday with 18 friends last Sunday.

The Anthony Cavarella family spent their vacation at Black Lake near Cheboygan. The children Peggy, Mary Lou, Mike, Louis and Jimmy loved it, but Mrs. Cavarella says that with a large family she missed all her modern conveniences.

Tony Weikel, a scholarship student at Cranford last year, will re-enter the school in the 9th grade this fall.

Nancy Hammil, who is studying voice at the Detroit Conservatory of Music, will enter Southfield high in the 11th grade this year.

Bob and Sally Body enjoyed their vacation at Top-In-A-See Lodge with a side trip to Mackinac Island and a downhill tandem ride with Sally in the back seat. Pam Boyd spent her fourth vacation at Camp Kam Lodge.

The Fred Rays, accompanied by daughter Christine and Kathy, made a trip to Niagara Falls then up to Miley's Lodge at Bellaire.

After two years of hard work, the Gildersleeve family of Eldorado drive are just beginning to take time to enjoy their new cottage at Rifle Lake near Rose City. Daughters Nancy Jo and Henry Sue love their vacations spent in the north, and look forward to weekend trips all summer. Guests of the Gildersleeves this year were the C. J. Geysmanns of Rosedale Park.

Observers of the thrilling helicopter rescue of two men from the brink of Niagara Falls were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McCormick and their children, Patty and Jimmy. From the Falls, the McCormicks visited the Muskoka Lakes area in Canada, touring on down through Georgian Bay and the shores of Lake Huron.

It Happens All the Time

LATHRUP — With over 1000 Knights and their families in New York City attending the 44th Triennial Conclave of the Knights Templars, Aug. 20-27, it seemed impossible to the J. Clifton Lathrups of Eldorado avenue they would meet anyone from home.

It seemed that way, too, to the Scott Kidds of Coral Gables. But, standing on a street corner, watching the Knights parade by, the Lathrups met. Later they saw Mr. and Mrs. H. Earl Hanson of Coral Gables.

In New York for the conclave, their week was crammed full of things to do. The men took part in a church service, exhibition drills, and the street parade. They squired their wives to the Commander's Ball, everyone took a boat trip to West Point, and Friday was spent at Jones' Beach.

The three men belong to Detroit Commandry No. 1, but know each other only slightly. Which just goes to prove ecclesia and stetera.

We Heard It Said By:

ALBERT KRUCK, Southfield Fire Chief: "We should have four men on duty all the time. It doesn't happen very often, but if I should have someone out because of sickness or vacation, I am authorized to fill the vacancy with one of the volunteers. I wish we had more men in the department, but it isn't possible at the present time."

Lessons, Mrs. Tucker comments, "we just aren't a sitting-down family."

Guesting at the Charles Diehl cottage last week on Clear Lake near Atlanta were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Kolk and their two sons, of Bloomfield, and Mrs. Diehl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hatch, of Detroit. Swimming and water skiing were found most enjoyable, with plenty of facilities for both.
