Families May Send Yuletide Messages To Troops Abroad

Five Birmingham families will have the opportunity of sending personal messages to the servicemen of the armed forces overseas this year.

The Rev. Emil Koonce, D.D., pastor of First United Methodist Church, and Mrs. F. E. Thompson of First Methodist Church, have arranged for them.

"It's a case of first-rate service," he said. "We have accepted the first five calls so far. We are planning to get as many more as possible, especially for those people who are left out." He added that the workers who will carry the messages are not being paid for their services.
