Interesting New Neighbors In Interesting New Homes

Fourteen large trees had to be removed to make room for the Harold J. Rubels new home which was built in Eastover, although it was the wooded area that Ruth and Harold Rubel liked most about the place when they first saw it.

Former Detroiters, they are now settled at 3625 Forest Hills, with one Harold, Jr., and Evelyn and Mrs. Rubel's father, John J. Walters.

The men in this family are sports-minded. Harold Sr. favors bowling. Harold, Jr. is out for football at Bloomfield High where he is a freshman. Ruth's player tackle with the neighborhood younger set.

Mrs. Rubel enjoys entertaining and decorating and expects to be quite active in PTA work in Detroit, she was active in the Mothers club.

Rubel is with Studebaker Parkard. The family attend Kirk-of-the-Hills church.

Twins, William and Katherine Cushing, 7, who along with their brothers, Frederick Jr., 6, and Peter, 4, keep the neighborhood buzzing around 86 Manor road, are the children of the widower of a Cushing, and the grandchildren of the William T. Cushing, former Birmingham resident for many years, now living at Glen Lake.

When Fred and Susan were first married, they lived in Birmingham, so they felt quite at home when they moved back this fall and bought the former home of Stephen J. property right up the road from where Fred grew up.

Fred, an alumnus of the University of Michigan is with Dodge Truck and Susan graduated from Sullin College, Bristol, Va.

The Schencks now live at Metamora where they have a farm much to their liking.

Former Detroiters, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Coreman, Mendoclane drive, Hickory Heights, with daughter Cynthia, 5, moved into their new home August 22.

Coreman, a graduate of Creighton law school, Omaha, is a government attorney with offices in Veterans building, Detroit.

Robert W. Leavitt, of Tiverton, Bloomfield township, has been elected a director of the National Association of Cost Accountants, Detroit chapter.

The Leavitts, with children Rosalie, 11, and Robert, 8, moved to their Bloomfield township home in August, coming here from Paris, France, where they had lived for two years. Former Detroiters, Mr. Leavitt's work took them to New York, Belgium and on to Paris before they returned to the U. S.

Just getting settled at 963 Hickory Heights, Bloomfield township, are the Z. Louis Horvath and children, Nancy, 7, James, 5, and Mark, 2, months old, formerly of Flint.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Horvath are graduates of the University of Michigan and are members of the Presbyterian church. He is with General Motors Corp. Transist division.

Welcome also to newcomers Mr. and Mrs. Guy M. Hallowsy and children, Penny Ann, 14, and Guy Mark, who will be 2 years old Dec. 6, who moved to 870 Bloomcrest from Hazel Park.

Hallowsy is co-owner of the Commercial Service, Detroit, an

ATTEND CONVENTION
The W. D. Cowgills, Manor, attended the annual convention of the Society of Automotive Engineers held at Greenbrier hotel, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene B. Ezebell, Wattles, and the Norman Terry of Ivester court were also among the many Birminghamites in West Virginia for the four days.

Cowgills returned in time to take daughter Carol to Michigan State University. Mrs. Nell Barr of Ashland, and Mrs. Cowgill's mother who is visiting here, accompanied the group to Lansing.

The Wilbert J. Calbouns, Longmeadow, have had their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wilber G. Calboun and little Martha Jo Calboun, almost two, as houseguests this summer. The younger Calbouns, formerly lived in Burlington, Vt. and are now Detroit residents.

Dogs in Home Aim of Week

"Home in America" was theme of National Dog Week, sponsored last week by the Dog Welfare Guild.

Stressing that the dog is a member of the family, the campaign has a design done by Albert Staehle depicting "Man's Best Friend" in the family circle, as companion and protector.

Aiming to repay in part the dog's unselfish devotion to man, the guild works to better canine welfare. They fight unfair legislation, expand basic knowledge and speak when the dog needs a champion.

MRS. WILLIAM G. Ferguson, humane director who lives in Bloomfield Hills, listed seven points as objectives of the Week.

A good home for every dog, elimination of stray dogs from the streets, better dog owners, teaching consideration for dogs and all animals, emphasizing the dog's use as a companion and protector, se-
