Scotswomen Vary on Way To Make Bannock of Oats

By DOROTHY JEAN ZACK

Explorations and experiments of a week have yielded a modern adaptation of an old-time, reputedly Scotch oatmeal cake. The bannock is a round, thick, leavened cake made on the grill. The dough is mixed, put on the grill, and baked while still hot. The Scotswomen in the United States, who have been cooking this way for years, are said to be the first to use it. The result is a cake that is both easy to make and delicious to eat.

College Editorial Editor

Proceeding the opening of the 220th full term at Stephens college in Columbia, Mo., will be a Campus Leaders' council. The council will meet on September 22nd. During that time campus officers will experience a period of training for their responsibilities during the coming school year. All officers will be on the campus Sept. 22.

The council will be held on the campus Sept. 22 from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. The purpose of the council is to give the officers an opportunity to discuss and plan for the coming year. The council will be held in the Stephens college library. The officers will be divided into groups and will work on specific projects throughout the day. The council will end with a dinner at 5:00 p.m.

Lanterns Decorate Gardens

Several Birmingham residents enjoyed the festive atmosphere that prevailed at the Rosemary Gardens, a garden in Birmingham, that night. The gardens were decorated with lanterns and other decorations, giving a festive atmosphere to the event.

Two Brides Choose Full Skirts, Trains

(Above) A bride in a white dress with a full skirt and a veil. The bride is standing in front of a building.

(Above left) A bride in a blue dress with a full skirt and a veil. The bride is standing in front of a building.

(Above right) A bride in a red dress with a full skirt and a veil. The bride is standing in front of a building.

Gown of Silk

Rothwell silk taffeta fashioned by Janet Fairchild's dressmaker, a dressmaker whose work is known for its elegance, was overlaid with lace. The dress was created for a special occasion, perhaps a wedding or a formal event.

Chapel Train

A gown of silk embroidered, full skirted, and trimmed with lace. The gown is designed to be worn at a formal event, possibly a wedding or a similar occasion.

Suburban Scene

Business, Pleasure, Influence Comings, Goings

By FRANK MAUR

"More interested in eating the caviar than the cake" was one of the reactions of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Snow, their children, and their friends when they met for the annual Birminghams' Caviar Festival last week. Mrs. E. J. Snow, president, and Mrs. D. H. Smith, secretary, spoke of the many trophys and prizes awarded winning players.

The tournament was held on the River Park.

(Lower) Pat Devane, defending champion, and equipment for the match. Mrs. Grace

MRS. BLACK rolls oats out on a table beside the printed pages. The oats are arranged in neat rows and are ready for use in the kitchen.

University Women Fete New Teachers At Lunch, Program

New teachers in the Birmingham high school were honored at a luncheon by the university. The luncheon was held in the campus. The university president and other dignitaries were present, and the teachers were presented with ribbons and certificates.

Women Golfers Vie For Many Trophies

Women golfers faced the same trials and tribulations of the game last week when 16 teams off the Birmingham country club in the Woman's District Golf Association. Exciting heat and cold winds were the players' main handicap in the course. The outcome was decided by the final round on the River Park.

(Right) Mrs. Victor Honl thanks her fans out of a varied field for recognition. She called a friend and said, "I can't believe this is happening. This is just like winning a trip to Florida."