Girl Scouts 'My Troop' Day Is Saturday

"My troop" day is to be Saturday at Birmingham Community House from 1 until 6 p.m. This is the day when Birmingham girl scouts, juveniles and intermediates, from 85 troops, will display samples of their craft work.

Americans will be the theme. Senior to help a committee of Southern Oakland Girl Scout council will present an exhibit including a model wearing the official roundup uniform and camp pack.

Another feature will be presented by the needlework guild. Girls will model skirts they have made. Baby clothes, quilts, blouses, and skirts also were made by the girls as a service project for needy families.

Another highlight will be the replicas of Juliete "Daisy" Low's birthplace in Savannah, Ga. Visitors may participate in the home's restoration by dropping a coin down the chimney and picking a "daisy" from the lawn.

There will also be displays by camping, training, organization and public relations committees, as well as many other exhibits.

Mrs. V. G. Dekubyni is chairman of "My Troop" day. Assisting her are Mrs. John Fietisch, Mrs. Myron Zhdowski, Mrs. Donald Parry, Frank Russell, Mrs. James Hall, Mrs. Edward Masson, Mrs. William Jacobs, Mrs. Ralph Cowan, Mrs. William Gordon and Mrs. John St. Clair.

Mrs. Dekubyni and her committee invite everyone interested. However, they request that all children be accompanied by an adult.
