Citizen Lauds Police Force

if you're like me. Says the Barrister. You have nothing in particular to hide, and yet you're thankful the law shields your private life, even on the witness stand. There's nothing in my private personal life to be particularly ashamed of. But, just like you, I figure that many things I do and say are my own business. The innocent things I do in the privacy of my own home, for example, shouldn't concern anyone else; or what I tell my minister or doctor when I turn to him for help, or what I confide to my wife. For the most part our lives back up in this, even when it comes to sworn testimony in the courtroom. After all, the laws we live by merely reflect the way of life we believe in. We've built a great nation on the philosophy of leaving the other fellow alone if he wants it that way and isn't harming anyone.

To the Editor: This is a letter of commendation to our civilian and auxiliary police force for the outstanding service which they gave our community during the past year. We wish to make it known to them and others through the eccentric that their efforts have been especially praiseworthy. Visitors from more than 14 different cities have been impressed enough by their professional efficiency to inquire about their organization.

THEY believe, and so do we, that this is one of the fine examples where local citizens donate time and sell to help raise the standards of a fine community a little higher. This very favorable publicity has been the result of hard work with no personal return. May eccentrics thank help convince them that they are very much needed and appreciated.

Tom Schad Grateful For Readers' Help

To the Editor: I am very grateful to have this opportunity to thank each and every one of you who responded so generously to my plea for help. The goal which means so much to me, by means of your efforts I have far surpassed what I had hoped for. So many things about my illness have shown me the kindness and generosity of people, who even though they don't know me, want to help.

I WANT you to know that I have a very warm feeling about this, a feeling I have never known before. I shall always remember this as a personal experience with the Golden Rule.

Thank you, too, for your wonderful letters and notes of encouragement. I enjoyed them immensely.

Staff Appreciates Eccentric Picture

The staff of the "B-26 Spy" would like to thank you for the picture and detailed story which appeared in The Eccentric of April 15. We would also like to thank you for the print of this picture. We are proud to make this an addition to our files.

DAN RODGERS, Editor.

We Heard It Said By:

BOB OMTVEDT, Birmingham, high school senior, member of the Congregational church's recent Senior High Fellowship spring trip. I missed out on the Washington trip to go on the tour with our church group, but I'd go up to the Washington trip any day to go on a trip with our minister, Mr. (Robert) Dewey. He and his wife are really swell, and lots of fun to go with.
