

Wears Mother's Wedding Mantilla, Honeymooning at Hidden Valley

MRS. EDWARD J. STENGER

On a wedding trip to the Hidden Valley at Osego Lake in Northern Michigan are Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Stenger who were married July 28.

Before her marriage the bride was the former Beverly Marie Shea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Shea of Huntington Woods. Her husband's parents are the Edward J. Stengers, 970 Pilgrim, Birmingham.

Wedding vows were exchanged at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, at St. Mary's church, Royal Oak, with the Rev. George J. Cairns officiating. A breakfast followed at the Detroit Yacht club.

BEVERLY'S princess fashioned bridal gown of white Italian silk taffeta had a sabrina neckline and short sleeves of hand run Alencon lace studded in tiny pearls. The floor-length skirt fell into a chapel train. Her headpiece was a mantilla of heirloom Duchess lace which had been worn by her mother and sister, Mrs. Bernard S. MacCabe (Connie). She carried a white orchid imbedded in white roses.

Summer Musical At Cranbrook Has Cast of 36

For its premiere performance in Cranbrook's Greek Theatre, "Maybe It's Love," a new musical founded on a little-known libretto of Bret Harte, will feature a song and dance cast of 36 senior members of the Cranbrook summer theatre school.

Waldemar T. Graf and Joseph Barrett are directing the production scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday, August 7 and 8. The score, featuring 20 numbers, is by Carl G. Wonnberger. Choreography will be created by Marion Sump of Michigan State college.

STARRING IN "Maybe It's Love" will be Patricia Sullivan of Birmingham and Cheryl Stein of Detroit. As the typical Bret Harte minor will be Andy Hawley of Birmingham, with Richard Gallinger of Detroit singing the villain.

Others in the cast include Anne Alexander, Barbara and Katie Bigge, Sally Ann Brown, Sue DeNador, Karen Koenig, Joe Oros, Peggy Lowe, Valerie Armstrong, Mary Falvey, Nancy Lawton and JoAnne McAlister.

Others are F. J. McGinnis, Halie Stanbury, Judy Sullivan, Lynne Norwell, Karen Young, Joyce Harrison, Marilyn McIntock, Carolyn Huntton and Francella Green, with Gerald Waechter playing the heroic schoolmaster.

Settings for "Maybe It's Love" have been designed by Barbara Krenzien, with Walter Sumara and Pete Schmidt the technical crew. Mildred Walls and Sally Sampa made the period costumes. Paso, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Bacon, Jr., with her two children, Charlie and Ned, have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. West Gallogly of Woodlake court. Mrs. Bacon's home is in Cleveland, Ohio.

B'ham Musicale Members Visit Interlochen Camp

Several members of the Birmingham Musicale are visiting the national music camp at Interlochen today. For the past several years, the first Thursday in August has been designated "Federation of Music Clubs Day" by the camp.

A luncheon and musical program, presented by the summer music students, are included in the day's activities. Mrs. Delbert L. Tate, 959 Westchester way, chairman of special membership for the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs, and Mrs. Isaac W. Robertson, 2935 Brookside, treasurer for the Federation are two of the ladies at the camp.

Prior to the meeting Mrs. Robertson was the guest of the Federation's president, Mrs. Gilbert Burrell, Lansing, who entertained the executive board officers at her summer home on Higgins lake. Spending several days at the camp are Mrs. Herbert H. Gardner, 172 Aspen, and Mrs. Bessie McMechan, 551 Pilgrim.

Household goods of every description are offered for sale in the Classified Columns of The Birmingham Eccentric.
