

Resume College Studies After Honeymoon in West

Patricia Ann Wrobel and Earl William Engelbrecht exchanged rings and vows at 4:30 p.m., Saturday, at Westminster Presbyterian church. The Rev. Arthur Visser officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benedict C. Wrobel of Detroit. Earl's parents are the William M. Engelbrechts of Devon Lane, Birmingham.

Patricia's gown was of crystal white tulle over satin in the style of a Dresden figurine. The round neckline was bordered with jeweled lace. Graceful folds of the bouffant skirt fell from the pointed waistline into a train accented with garlands and sprays of Alencon lace, frosted with pearls and iridescent paillettes. Long sleeves tapered over the hands with appliques of lace.

Her headdress was a scalloped half bonnet of lace, embroidered with pearls and paillettes, from which fell her fingertip veil. She carried a crescent shaped bouquet of white and pink roses, stephanotis and ivy.

ATTENDANTS were Barbara Berger, maid of honor, Carol Fernwood and Patricia Mann, Junior bridesmaids were Judith Baril and Patricia Dewey of Detroit and Carole Smith of Bloomfield Hills.

They wore white crystalite with various pastel colored bows matching hats and carried matching baskets of flowers.

Flower girl was Susan Baker, who wore an aqua organly dress with a white eyelet duster. She wore a wreath of aqua painted daisies in her hair.

Ringbearer, Master Gordon Engelbrecht, brother of the groom, was attired as the men . . . in white dinner jackets.

Two other brothers in the wedding were Martin, best man, and Charles, an usher. Other ushers included Fred Bryan, Roba Ronald Ritzler, Duncan Cameron and William Hassett.

THE MOTHER of the bride wore beige lace over taffeta and with matching accessories and a corsage of green orchids. Earl's mother wore pink brocaded satin with matching accessories and a purple orchid. Grandmothers of the couple were dressed in tones of blue with accessories of pink and white.

Traveling west on their honeymoon, after September they will make their home in Ypsilanti. Mrs. Engelbrecht will continue her studies at Eastern Michigan college and her husband at University of Michigan.

MRS. CARVER E. HENDRIX

Lt. and Mrs. Hendrix To Make Home in Texas

Elizabeth Ruth Holzgauer, daughter of the Henry W. Holzhausers of Royal Oak, was married Saturday afternoon at Christ Church Cranbrook to Curver Edward Hendrix, son of Mr. and Mrs. Algie A. Hendrix of West Lincoln, Birmingham.

Two hundred and fifty guests witnessed the double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Robert DeWitt and were greeted at a reception in the church parlors.

THE BRIDE was crowned in white, embroidered organly dress with a scalloped neckline, short sleeves and full-length floor length skirt featuring a draped, ruffled, full-horned neckline and a full organly bow.

Her round, fringed, longly veil fell from a circlet of organly daisies and fuzzy mums and a white organly organly hat.

Dressed in all white ensembles were the maid of honor, Carol Ruth Holzgauer, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids, Jean Watkins of Royal Oak and Ruth Kottman of Big Beaver.

They wore white pictured hats with their white embroidered organly ankle-length gowns, styled with sabrina necklines and cap sleeves. Their flower, white lavender face bouquets.

MOTHERS of the principals pinned orchid corsages to their gowns. Mrs. Holzgauer chose an ice blue chiffon sheath and Mrs. Hendrix's dress was fashioned of pink lace and silk organza.

Best man was David L. Hunt of Winter Haven, Fla., and Tom McClelland of Bay City and George Clarke of Birmingham seated guests.

A yellow Irish linen sheath dress with matching accessories was the bride's traveling costume when she left with her husband for a Southern honeymoon.

In September, they will take up residence in Texas when the bridegroom reports for duty as a second lieutenant at Lackland Air Force base, Texas.

Society deadline is 3 p.m. each Tuesday.
