

Walnut Lake Woman Plays Role of Maid

"King of Hearts," which will be the last play of the season at the Will-O-Way Playhouse in Bloomfield Hills, opened Tuesday evening, and will run through September 16th.

A Walnut Lake woman, Mrs. Bertha Foreman, 2104 Eastman, is playing the role of the maid in the current production. Jean Kerr, who wrote "Jenny Kissed Me" and collaborated with her critic husband, Walter F. Kerr on plays, "The Sign of the Cross" and "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," has teamed with Eleanor Brooks for this satiric farce which pokes fun at phonies and their cheater-ridden world.

"KING OF HEARTS" deals with an egotistical comic-strip artist whose cartoons have taken on a "social significance." With this in mind, the artist's head begins to swell and he starts spouting prose with a biting wit. The victims of his monologues are his fiancée, secretary, who never expected to find herself engaged to "so great a man," a weak-kneed ghost writer, hired to draw the strip while the artist is on his honeymoon; and a small boy with a large dog.

JEAN KERR has always been noted for her fine sense of humor. In "King of Hearts" she has reached a new high.

Paul Caplan stars as the egotistical cartoonist. He is supported by Danny Simpson as the ghost writer, Janet Simmons as the secretary, and Merrill Sikorski as the small boy. Others in the cast are Jack Van, Lee Mahoney and Doug Turk.

HOLIDAYING IN THE CANADIAN ROCKIES are Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fowler, 661 Henrietta, Birmingham, who are headquartered at Jasper Park Lodge.
