

Walnut Lake Area Annual Christmas Party for Area Children Is Planned by Men's Club

Walnut Lake Men's club will be giving its annual Christmas party the afternoon of Dec. 22 from 2 to 4 p.m. Children and grandchildren of club members are invited to meet Santa Claus and enjoy the movies and gifts of candy.

The Paul Dahls of Putnam drive entertained a large group of old friends last week at a chop suey dinner, followed by an evening of cards.

The same group were invited to join the Dahls again in a holiday dinner and celebration on Dec. 29. On Christmas day, the family will be with the family of Mrs. Dahl's brother, Kenneth Fischer, in Lansing.

The Wendell Moores of South Clunbury road had a busy and thrilling time at the New York auto show during which time they were in the busy whirl of extra-curricular activities. However, they say it is nice to be home in time to finish up Christmas shopping.

The children's eyes are already sparkling with the thought of the family Christmas they will have in Marshall, with so many cousins on hand to share the fun with them. The Val Corradis of South Clunbury road are also among the gay throngs in New York city.

An early holiday cocktail party was given by the David Young dahls of West Dartmoor road Saturday, since they are taking off soon for a family Christmas in Atlanta, Georgia.

A gay crowd gathered for the fun, and admired the gold Christmas decorations used to beautify the rooms and form a striking buffet centerpiece.

The James Sanborns, Sr. are anticipating a Christmas California with their daughter's family, having just made plane reservations. Mr. and Mrs. James Barnett will be their hosts during their stay in Temple City.

Flying with them when they leave next week, will be grandson Richard Sanborn, who will have much to tell his Walnut Lake school classmates on his return after the holidays.

The Stephen S. Page family of Craig drive have two new babies at their home. Most important addition is Margaret McMullen Page, born Oct. 8 at New Grace hospital, and a source of constant amusement to small brother Clifton.

However, since young Peggy has been a model child to date, the household was unprepared for the sleepless nights they would suffer through the addition of a young dachshund to their midst last week. The little pup is gradually becoming accustomed to his new surroundings, and less lonely in the night hours.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hamilton moved to their home on Lawndale from Inkster. They have two married daughters, Mrs. Harry Oakley and Mrs. William Shackelford. Mrs. Oakley is now in California, where her husband is stationed with the U. S. Navy.

Mrs. Shackelford's husband began his Army service last week, and she moved back temporarily with her parents.

The Hamiltons also have two small sons, Eugene, 9, and Jack, 10, both of whom celebrated their birthdays the latter part of October.

Hamilton is with the Ford Motor Co. He is affiliated with the Masonic Order in West Dearborn. Mrs. Hamilton used to be active in 4-H work before moving, and is now busy in Cub Scouts.

Holiday Customs Featured at PTA Meeting, Dec. 17

WALNUT LAKE—Christmas around-the-World will be the theme of the Christmas family-night program at Walnut Lake school Monday evening.

The glee club will begin caroling in the halls at 7:30, to the accompaniment of the school orchestra, and people are invited to arrive early to enjoy their songs.

Each room, decorated to depict Christmas in other countries, will hold open house. Students will present one traditional holiday custom of the land which the room represents. At the end of the open house, the orchestra and glee clubs will lead the entire school and parents in a giant songfest.
