

Linda Loomis and Patrick Fischer Exchange Wedding Vows and Rings

Linda Loomis and Patrick Carl Fischer spoke their marriage vows Saturday afternoon before the altar of the little hundred-year-old Unitarian-Universalist church in Farmington. Rev. Russell Lincoln of Birmingham Unitarian church performed the double-ring rite.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Miss Sally Loomis of Cambridge, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard K. Raffree and children, William, Keith, Ann and Carol, of Elkhart, Ind.; the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Carl Fischer, and Mrs. Emily Metz of East Orange, N. J.; and Mrs. Harold Daveoport of Itasca, Ill.

MRS. PATRICK C. FISCHER

A PRINCESS style bridal gown of white satin and Altona lace was Linda's choice for her wedding day. The gown's lace collar bodice was designed with sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves and the full satin skirt terminated in a chapel train.

Securing her tiered veil of silk illusion was an irregularly shaped lace cap embroidered in seed pearls. Eucharist Bless and ivy were combined for her bouquet.

Marcia Anne Loomis came from Boston to be maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Virginia Robertson of Santa Barbara, Cal. and Ann Stewart Parise of Birmingham.

They wore mint green silk tulle street length frocks styled on princess lines, with square necklines, short sleeves and back fullness. Garnet rosettes and ivy were used for their headbands and bouquets.

BEST MAN was Eric M. Aunperle and ushers were Thomas E. Kauer and Marvin L. Katz, all of Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Loomis accented her French blue faille sheath dress with a pink hat and gloves, and her corsage was of violets. The mother of the groom selected a white hat for her royal blue dress and her flowers were phalaenopsis orchids.

After greeting guests at a reception in the home of the bride's parents, the newlyweds left on a motor trip to Asheville, N. C. Mrs. Fischer's traveling costume was a light blue wool knit sheath dress with bulky jacket. Her veil and hat was in a matching blue and her accessories were Navy blue.

THE YOUNG couple will reside in Ypsilanti, while Linda continues her studies at Eastern Michigan

Annette and Suzette Gagnier Make Debut

Introduced AIDAC Party

White carnations and American beauty roses centered white covered tables around the dance floor at the Detroit Athletic club for the dinner Friday evening at which Annette and Suzette Gagnier were introduced to society.

For their debut, the twins were gowned in identical creations fashioned of heavy white satin with American beauty chiffon draped bodices and floating back panels. They accented the full skirted, floor length frocks with red shoes and bags, white gloves and corsages of white orchids.

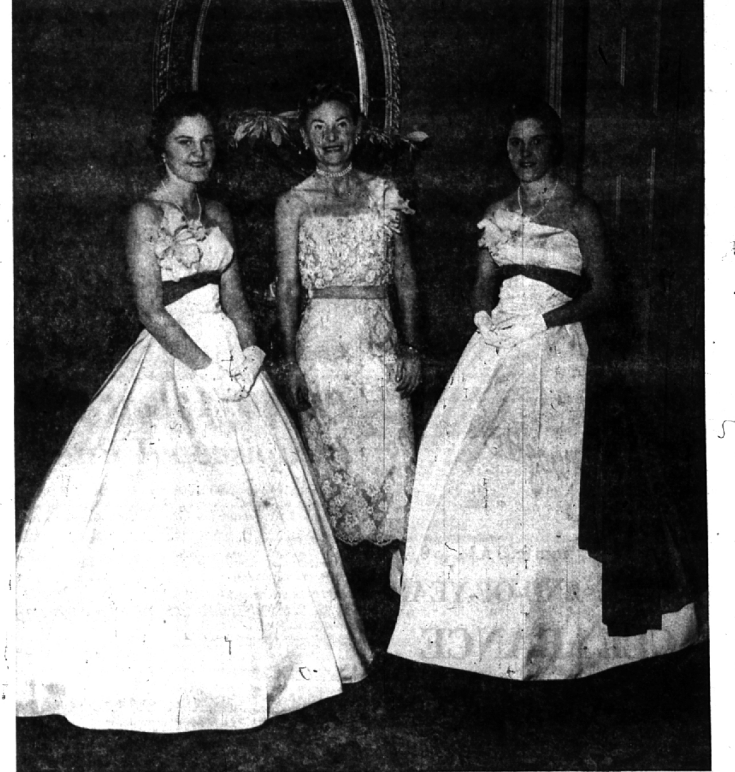

RECEIVING the over 100 guests with the debs were their Mother, Mrs. George E. Gagnier of Tryon, N. C., and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Pierre, and uncle, Charles M. Pierce, of Tiverton road, Bloomfield Hills.

Mrs. Gagnier selected for the occasion, a powder blue lace cocktail sheath with crystal beaded bodice, and Mrs. Pierre's choice was a black satin sheath.

Striding musicians entertained guests during dinner in the club's Pontchartrain room where green garlands were caught up by white carnations and red roses to decorate the buffet table.

Annette and Suzette's bow was among the first of this debaute season which moved into full swing over the weekend. The party was planned to end at 10:30 o'clock with all then going on to the Merlin A. Cudins ball at Country Club of Detroit, introducing their daughter, Julie.

MRS. GAGNIER and her daughters, who are students at Majore Webster junior college, Washington, D. C., are former Birmingham residents and spend the summers in Bloomfield Hills and Metamora. They will leave for their home in Tryon right after Christmas. The C. D. Pierces will join them for New Year's, going on then to their winter in Key Biscayne, Fla., for the winter.
