 in the Detroit school system.

Issue of April 26 It's taken almost five years, but the complications have been many, and the questions have been many, and the answer is known: The Evergreen Interceptor will be built by six upper Rouge river tributaries to end their pollution of those waters, as ordered by the state water resources commission.
 VFW post 2645 has purchased a building at 188 Elm, Birmingham, to be used as the post home.
 Harry Denyes, Jr., Monday night was named Birming-ham's mayor pro tem to succeed Charles Renfrew, who moves onto the city employment board as the city commissioners' representative.

His outstanding performance with the U. S. deputy secretary of defense brought a blue ribbon with attached gold medal to Roger M. Kyles of Bloomfield Hills. It was the Exceptional Service award, awarded, presented Monday night at the Aero club's annual meeting by secretary of that Air Force Donald A. Quarles.
 In line with the expansion of Little League activities in the Birmingham group has joined with Royal and Dearborn to form a new suburban, All American Little Football League.

Issue of May 3
 A near record 24-hour rainfall of 3.25 inches this weekend caused several hundred families to spend Sunday in their basements trying to protect household goods and furnishings and flushing out evidence of backed up sewer water that ranged from several inches to several feet.

Clay Coley, 1179 Yorkshire, Birmingham, metallurgical engineer for Detroit, retired recently after nearly 28 years of service with the company.

Michigan Division of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association convenes for the 30th annual meeting and birthday celebration at Birmingham Community House next Wednesday and Thursday.

Shirley Bunnell will be honored tonight at the Rackham building for recently winning the key award for the best historical article in the Detroit News writing contest.
 She will be presented with the gold key, a certificate and dictionary.

Scoring its 17th straight dual-meet track victory, Birmingham overpowered Mt. Clemens last Wednesday, 7 1/2 to 3 1/2 on the Bathur field.

Issue of May 10
 If Birmingham City Commissioners are to hold this year's tax rate to the same used last year, they may have to trim City Manager's preliminary budget figures to more than $34,000.

For the past several months a group of women have been enthusiastically studying the possibility of establishing in the Birmingham area a club for women of similar tastes and center for culture, social, civic and philanthropic pursuits.
 First formal step was taken March 21, when the Village Women's club was incorporated and a temporary board of directors elected by charter members. Mrs. J. J. Nance was named president.

NANCY M. ROBSON,
 19, of 330 Cranbrook Cross, Bloomfield township, was one of five persons killed in a head-on crash near Ann Arbor where she was a student.
 She and three others were on their way to dinner prior to a fraternity dance when the tragedy occurred.

One of the brightest dreams of all golfers came true for a young linkswoman of the Southfield high school golf team last week. In the 183 yard, number three hole of Westerns golf course, 17-year-old Bob Waldron drove a beautiful hole in one.
 Led by Joe Kidwell who picked up points in the high and low hurdles, Birmingham high school captured third place in the 16th Birmingham's newest plan board member is architect Eliot F. Robinson, 37, of 572 Linden. His appointment was made Monday night immediately following the commission's acceptance of the resignation of Carl F. Ingraham, who was elected in April to the City Commission.

Eero Saarinen heads the architectural firm which designed the GM Technical center. Marianne Strengell of Cranbrook designed all the rugs, many of the drapes and other fabrics.

Before the altar banked with gladioli and blue faji mums, Olivia Viola and William H.
 Thomas exchanged vows and rings at 11 a.m. in St. Margaret Mary church, Detroit.

At a meeting of the board of Southfield public schools Monday evening it was announced that the new 15-room elementary school at 18416 Nine Mile road will be named in memory of E. J. Lederle, former school commissioner in Oakland county.

 Neither wind nor rain nor tornado prevented the Birmingham track team from running off with its second consecutive state regional title. Point total was 59 1/2.
 Under unfavorable conditions caused by the continual rain, a field of ten high school teams splashed through the all day affair Saturday in their effort to capture the class A regional title. Thoug-erald of Van Dyke, the track and field were slow and wet which prevented any record breaking performance by the thinclads. The maples successfully defended their crown by scoring or tying for first place in five of the 16-event competition while picking up important secondary points with a fine over-all team effort.

Issue of May 24
 Death came to Nancy M. Robson, 19, of 330 Cranbrook Cross, Bloomfield township, and four others Friday evening in a head-on collision near Ann Arbor.

Ten area students were named winners of Regents-Alumni scholarships to the University of Michigan this week. They are John Brajwood, 707 Emmons, Jerome Chay, a Troy student; James E.
 Siskies, 519 Cherokee lane; Thomas W. Schad, 623 Bloomfield court; William B. Davis, Jr., George E.
 Gary, Richard E. Loyer, all of 3.
