JUNIOR HIGH
NEWS

The Dramatic club presented two short plays recently in Barnum auditorium. They were sponsored by Miss Lyla E. McCormick assisted by Miss Jean Clark.

Cast of the first play, "The Lost Princess," included Marilyn Collins, Lorraine Shafer, Gail Dunham, John McCracken, Pat March Robin Marvin, Barbara Francis Taylor, Jim Haas, Stephen Collister, Howard Walker, Terry Bangs, Martha Kennison, Kathy Rubly Nicky Smith, Peggy Cummings Pat Farris, Lynne Anderson, Mary Kay A'hearn, and Marcia Muller.

"A comedy," "The Ghost of Show" was the second play. The performers were Jeff Finley, Barbara Summer, Tom Spierling, Melanie Ekland, Terry Overton, Jim Odle, Diane Cox, Jane Griffith Lorraine Schaeffer and Bob Heifer.

Members of 9-6 English class recently presented a radio adaptation of "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" over WCAR. The 15-min program was recorded and carried on presentation Thanksgiving morning. The cast included Dot Frey, Nancy Wesch, Lynne Anderson, McKinley, Don MacDougall, Bill Sabo and Peter Moorten, with Ann Bailey as announcer.

Last Wednesday B-H held its weekly meeting after school in the gym. Mrs. Foster announced the plans for the B-H dance, "The Peppermint Frolic," to be held Friday, Dec. 14, from 8 to 10:30. Admission will be exclusive to B-H members and their dates.

An assembly sponsored by the General Electric company took place recently in Barnum Auditorium. The demonstration was to show how science is put to use in various industries and to create interest in the fields of science and engineering.

Mr. Dowdle and his assistant showed the students how a destruction test is performed. They produced light by dropping a dry battery into salt water. Combining various chemicals produced a bud, pink foam. Another experiment demonstrated an electric eye which can be used to accurately measure pink pong balls.

Students watched flashes of stroboscopic light make whirling objects appear to be going slow or standing still. Helium and neon-filled tubes produced different colored lights and a demonstration of stereophonic sound.

Mrs. Fishers' ninth grade sewing class will present a fashion show featuring garments made by sewing classes of all grades next Friday from 8 to 10 p.m. in the auditorium. Script for the "Miss Betty Barnum" show will be read by Jane Thompson and Betsy Garrison.

TO CELEBRATE national book week, Derby junior high school seventh graders in room 217 staged a play about books last week. Here Cheryl Everly (standing rear), as the maid, expresses horror over all the books cluttering the floor. Engrossed in the books are (from left) Frank Green, Carol Wiggins, Mickey Nelson, Tom Wood and Pam Bell. All the school's seventh graders visited the room to view the play, directed by homeroom teacher Miss Kathy Gavine.
