

Local Residents Register As Civil Defense Volunteers

Importance of civil defense is realized and being taken seriously by many Wing Lake residents who have been especially cooperative in the recent drive for signing of volunteer cards.

Mrs. Douglas Buss, of Worlington road, medical director of Bloomfield township distributed these cards at the polls election day at Wing Lake school and also at the recent Wing Lake property owners fall meeting.

She feels that those who have not yet signed and returned their cards to her, do not realize that this must be done to facilitate organization of the training classes.

At a recent meeting at Bloomfield township hall, interested citizens of the township assembled to learn more of the need and procedures of civil defense. Auxiliary police and sector wardens were appointed and signed for duty. Frank Kolok, Wing Lake, signed for auxiliary police.

Many Wing Lake families have signed cards for identification in case of disaster and also for donating services.

There are three main divisions which are, auxiliary police, welfare and medical. Classes for auxiliary police have already been set up with the first meeting this week. Classes in first aid, welfare training, firemen and registration and information will be organized very shortly.

Those who have cards and have not yet signed and returned them are urged to do so immediately so classes can be organized as soon as possible. Return cards to Mrs. Douglas Buss, Worlington road. Those interested in volunteering but who have not received a card, are asked to contact Mrs. Buss.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Engel, Franklin road, entertained Saturday evening for Morton Graddis who is opening Holly Hill ski resort at Holly, Mich. It is a ski run for people to ski by the day. It is to be open in about a week.

A midnight supper was served to 26 guests. The party was in the Swiss motif with a Swiss cheese pie as the main dish and a large cake decorated with skiers and pine trees.
