Long Distance Romance Flowers into Marriage

Culmination of a romance which spanned many miles was reached when Carolyn Celia Markham was married to Kenneth Herman, Jr., last Saturday in the First Presbyterian church, Suffern, New York.

Carol met Ken when he flew east to usher at the wedding of Carol's sister to his SAE fraternity brother, Bob Page, in August, 1954. Later, Carol transferred from NYU to Michigan State university, where Ken was a senior.

Ken is the son of the senior Herman, Captain's lane, Franklin, Dr. and Mrs. Floyd S. Markham, Nantux, N. Y., are the bride's parents.

French tulle over satin fashioned the bouffant skirted bridal gown. Her train was beaded the deep V neckline, with broderie a l'aiguille of iridescent beads extending to the waistline of the fitted basque bodice. The skirt terminated in a chapel length train. Her fingertip veil cascaded from a Juliet-cap of tiny seed pearls.

As "something borrowed" she wore her mother's pearls and she carried the family prayerbook, topped with a cluster of white orchids.

HER FIVE attendants wore rainbow hued flared princess line gowns ranging from citron yellow, through almond green, turquoise, sapphire blue, to coral rose. Their cascading bouquets were of white carnations, tinted at the tips to match each gown.

Cindy Nelson, Detroit, Nina Lober and Harriet Melson, Spring Valley, N. Y., Mary Jo Price, New York, N. Y., and Ann Page, Lansing, were the bridesmaids.

Harry Nelson, Jr., Detroit, was the best man. Ushers were Walter Koch, Detroit, Harold Gali, Grosse Pointe, Bob Page, Lansing, and Grant Keefe, Spring Valley.

MRS. MARKHAM greeted her reception guests in the Thayer hotel, West Point, wearing a gown of Nanking blue crystallic. It was styled with a fitted lace bodice and a flaring skirt and her hat was of tiny matching feathers. Her flowers were pink glantheas.

Mrs. Herman, Sr., chose a Cell Chapman design in champagne satin, with side draped barem skirt. Gold thread embroidery with crystal bugle beads sparkled the bodice neckline and bodice. Her small hat of tinted leaves matched the dress, as did her gloves. She wore a cybindium orchid corsage.

Planning to make their home in California, the young couple will stop off at Aspen for some skiing on their way west.

Show Contemporary Work

A detailed analysis of contemporary sculpture was presented by Julie Webb for the February meeting of the Terra Cotta Sculptors at the home of Miss Mary Elizabeth Ward in Franklin.

Mrs. Webb is attending Cranbrook Academy of Art full time for the second year and manages to keep house, complete with husband and two lively children. She is equally proficient in a number of different media—terra cotta, stone, wood, bronze, plastics and welded metals.

Her talk accompanied the showing of a collection of colored slides from the Cranbrook Academy of Art.
