FUN. ACCOMPANIED BY healthy laughter, is a piece of merchandise much needed by human beings, and those who can observe humor in a variety of situations generally getheir facial wirhkles mostly only around twinkling eyes. Mrs. Paul N. (Mae) Averill, 876 Glengwy circle, some years ago began the recreational hobby of pating; since, she has achieved more than amateur status for, among other efforts, portraiture. Now and then, of late, she has induged, in "abstraction" painting, defined humorously by her husband as something less than surrealism, the latter being a condition describable only by the lone who does the painting. Not long ago she was working on an abstraction in her basement studio. She would bring this 30 by 40-inch painting up to the living room where, from a distance she (and sometimes her husband) would view it, prior to further work on it. One vening she did this. The family canine, a mongrelation of the control of the contr

MR. AND MRS. DONALD L. ZORN, 1400 Southfield, MR. AND MRS. DONALD L. ZORN, 1400 Southfield, had a narrow escape last week when their car went through ice on Lake St. Clair and sank in about nine feet of water. Pacing an ice boat at about 30 miles per hour, the Zorns and a Detroit couple were waried first when the ice cracked. Turning, to go back to shore a mile and one-quarter away, the car's front wheels dropped through the ice, pinning the doors shut. The four people crawled out through the windows and the car sank slowly for five minutes and then plunged through. Salvage crew recovered the car a day or so later, scratched, thoroughly soaked and with broken windows which kids had smashed with rocks.

WHETHER MAYOR ALBERT E. COBO will be a candidate for governor still remains a mystery, though a nearby daily reporter practically used a bear hug to squeeze a national color form of the most of the color form o

IT'S BECOME COMMONPLACE for a certain per-centage of mail designated for "Birmingham, Mich." to get here via Birmingham, Ala. This week Wilson Drog Co. office manager Don Cummings figures our town definitely is "on the way up" with the U. S. post office department. Relates Cummings, "Other day WE got a letter addressed to Wilson Jewelry Co. of Birmingham, Alabama—which we were very pleased to forward."

BIRMINGHAM CITY TREASURER Russ Berger is tickled three shades darker than the proverbial pink by the recent social security election and the proverbial pink by the recent social security election and the proverbial pink by the recent social security election and the proverbial pink by the recent social security election and the proverbial pink by the recent social security by the proverbial pink by the proverb

THE SUSPENSE at, the Community House the night the mothers came in with their March of Dimes collections reminds this Wanderer of a polling place on election right. Workers queried each reporting captain with "How did you do?" When Mrs. Gordon P. Degener strode in with a grocery sack full of collections from the Bloomfield Village area, she looked at the anxious faces, smiled, and said, "No money, girls, just green stamps."

IF YOU'RE WONDERING whose voice it was you heard from the sound cars last Thursday evening: In one car, Howard Riemen and Charles Mason took turns reminding people to turn on their posch lights for poljo. In a second car, John Stiff and Wilford Phyne alternately broadcast the Mothers' March reminder. The two cars covered 97 miles as they would up and down area streets from 4:30 to 8 p.m. that evening.

A PAT ON THE BACK (or arm) goes to the 211 blood donors who made last Wednesday's blood bank at St. James Episcopal church the most successful ever held in Birmingham. Mrs. George A. Weinhold, co-chairmar of the bank, said 30 people came to give replacement blood for relatives or friends whose illnesses had necessitated blood transfusions, Mrs. C. W. Frederick was co-chairman, and Mrs. Albert Bell took charge of the effective telephone recruitment program.

EVEN THOUGH they have been transplanted to Washington, D. C., many former Michigan sons and daughters perpetuate their lové for their home state, and formally recognize it annually at a banquet of the Michigan State Society. Ex-Bloomfield Hills resident E. G. Batty attended Friday's event, and on the printed program wrote this Wander: ''Had a full house. Even set up extra tables. A little snow did not keep Michiganders away."

STATING: THAT, FATALITIES and accidents on new expressways are 70 per cent below the average on other Detroit-street, Mayor Albert E. Cobo told St. James Episcopal church Men's club members of three ways in which super-lighways are safer. First, he said, because there are crossovers provided, pedestrians are safer. Second, danger of collisions is avoided because crossovers for automobiles eliminate intersections. Third, a center boulevard prevents the hazard of hittings cars coming from the opposite direction. "That," as ald Mayor Cobo, "leaves only one way cars can get hit, and that's from behind. And by golly, they're doing it?"
