Work of Friendly Volunteers Explained to Wing Lake Group

Friendly Volunteers are Red Feather Volunteers, a branch of United Community Services. This group is dedicated to service for the lonely, confined, aged people.

Feb. 17, Mrs. Mary G. Muehl, Sandy Lane, was hostess to an informational meeting and tea to acquaint the guests with the work of the Friendly Volunteers and to recruit their services if they would like to help in this satisfying and worthy work.

There were some 30 guests who heard three speakers explain how this group visits the aged both in private homes and in homes for the aged. They read to them, talk to them, bring them flowers, candy, cookies, and in general, anything they can do to lighten their day and bring them cheer.

Speakers were Mrs. Elizabeth Livingston, Detroit, one of the originators of this movement, 16 years ago; Mrs. Mary K. Guiney, Detroit, planning director for the service to the aged; Mrs. James E. Lewis, Detroit, chairman of Metropolitan Detroit Friendly Visitors.

Mrs. Paul Billings and Mrs. George Schermerhorn of Foxcroft poured.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Fleming, Franklin road, were busy this week helping their daughter, Donna and her husband get settled in their Riverside apartment.

On Jan. 21, Donna became the bride of Paul Adrian LeFleur of Royal Oak. They were married at Holy Name church with their wedding breakfast at Devon Gables and the reception at Birmingham country club.

The couple enjoyed a three-week honeymoon in New Orleans.

Kay Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robinson, Sunningdale, was honored guest at a surprise Valentine party given for her by her mother.

Upon arrival, the guests were paired off by piecing out valentines together. A ham dinner was served from a buffet bearing a valentine tablecloth and centered with a bowl of red roses. On either side of the flowers were tall taper candles and valentine cloths. A clever valentine quiz, followed by games and prizes entertained the party for the evening.

Guests were Pat Robinson, Kay's cousin and her girl friend, Joan Evans, both students at Michigan State University, Sue Lovett, Cindy Sween, Chuck Robertson, Clark

February meeting Tuesday evening in the all-purpose room of the school. The speaker was Dr. Marie Bacey, teacher of child psychology at Wayne university. Her topic was education in a new world.

The main item of business on the agenda was the presentation of the plan for the summer recreation program to be held for the second summer at Wing Lake school. The program will again be under the direction of William McGuire, sixth grade teacher.

Already there has been a large response to this year's session which will include swimming at Wing Lake property owners' association beach, sports, games, arts and crafts and special events.

Children who were kindergartners and first graders this year will go half days this season and will have special activities for their own age group.

Although they hoped to increase the enrollment this year, construction on the grounds may not permit. Early enrollments that have already come in indicate that there might again be a waiting list.

Mrs. Jack Townsend, Sheringham and her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. H. Pettibone, Royal Oak, have just returned from spending 10 days on Treasure Island, St. Petersburg, Fla.

During their stay in an apartment on the gulf, they enjoyed beautiful weather for swimming and relaxing on the beach. Their husbands flew down for the weekend and brought with them the only two cold, rainy days of the entire vacation. However, they did some dinner clubs and night spots for entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Eino Nurme, Carey Lane are ardent ski enthusiasts and have spent two weeks this winter enjoying the sport.

One week they were at Boyne mountain where their children, Dennis 12, Patty 12 and Dobby 5, accompanied them. Even Bobbie, at her tender age, took to the lifts and beginner's slopes like a veteran. Another week Mr. and Mrs. spent at Otsego.

This weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gordon, Worthington road will spend Friday to Sunday at Otsego for skiing. Gordon is the ski enthusiast while Mrs. Gordon pursues the indoor sports.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Niemann who now live at 1570 Pierce street. The Niemanns are former residents of Hollywood, Cal. Mr. Niemann is a writer with Henderson associates and was formerly with Jan Handy. Both of them just recently coming which they spent two years in Japan together. Mr. Niemann's hobby is photography.
